'Hate America' Attack Appears in Press as Mossadegh Picks His Cabinet

Opposition Fades

Parliamentarians Send Letters to Papers for Premier's Support

Tehran, Iran, July 24 (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh put finishing touches on a new cabinet today as Iran's bloodied capital slowly returned to normal from rioting that swept the popular old Nationalist chieftain back into power.

But a "hate America" campaign spread to the press, reflecting rising anti-U. S. feeling here.

Mossadegh was expected to present his new set of ministers to Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi today or tomorrow—with either the premier himself or his choice heading the key war ministry. The monarch's refusal last week to let Mossadegh take over that post caused the premier to resign. Thirty-five or more persons were killed in wild pro-Mossadegh demonstrations that followed.

All opposition to Mossadegh appeared to have evaporated in the violence. One after another, opposition members of Parliament sent letters to the newspapers last night pledging him their support.

Approval Is Seconded

The Majlis approval of his return to office was belatedly seconded by the Senate without a dissenting vote. Of the 60 upper house members, 33 voted last night for the premier, eight abstained, the rest were absent. The vote mattered little—the Shah already had charged Mossadegh to form a new government.

In such a situation, Mossadegh apparently could obtain without challenge what Parliament last week was reluctant to grant him—unlimited powers to deal with the nation's economic and financial crisis.

Though he as yet has presented no program, the premier earlier said there must be no settlement—except on Iranian terms—with the British of the oil dispute which has denied the government its major revenue, and that Iran otherwise must work her way out of her current economic morass through hardest austerity.

U. S. Rivals Great Britain

The United States rapidly was drawing closer to Britain as an object of public fury. Quoting a Parliament member, the newspaper Bakhtar-E-Emruz — official organ of Mossadegh's national front—said: "The American policy toward Iran is hated by this nation."

Much of the feeling stemmed from a visit by U. S. Ambassador Loy W. Henderson to Mossadegh's three-day-in-office successor, former Premier Ahmed Qavam. Qavam set off Monday's riots with a promise to settle Iran's oil dispute with Britain. His whereabouts now are unknown.

The Nationalists viewed Henderson's visit as support for those opposed to Mossadegh; the American said he was summoned and, as an ambassador, had to go.

Various rumors of Qavam's whereabouts circulated — he was under arrest outside Tehran; he was safely at his home here; he had fled the country. There was no official confirmation of any of them, however, and the possibility always was present that all had been planted to keep Nationalist crowds from attacking his home here.

Buttons Are All Gone

Chicago, July 24 (AP) — The people who helped whistle up the draft-Stevenson move find it's blown them clear out of campaign buttons. A week ago they had 3,000 of them—big, shiny red-white-and-blue buttons saying, "America needs Stevenson for president." Today: Not a one that isn't pinned to somebody.

General's Diary Now Classified as U. S. 'Top Secret'

General Grow's Trial Is Being Held in Maryland—Memos 'Exhibit A'

Washington, July 24 (AP)—The army now has classified as "top secret" an American general's diary whose contents have been known to Russia for a year.

The move to prevent public knowledge of what the document contained, it became apparent today, is part of the iron curtain of secrecy thrown around the courtmartial of Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow.

The diary is presumably "Exhibit A" of the trial, which began yesterday at Fort George G. Meade, Md.

The case exploded in the army's face last January when a Communist book appeared in East Germany containing what it said were excerpts from the diary kept by Grow, then the military attache at the U. S. Embassy in Moscow.

The excerpts included discussion of the need for war with Russia now and mentioned trips Grow allegedly made to study Russian military defense installations.

The army said a Soviet agent got hold of the diary while Grow was on a visit to Frankfurt, in the U. S. zone of Germany, last summer, by entering the general's hotel room during his absence.

The army hastily recalled Grow to the United States, without allowing him to return to Moscow; made an investigation, and ordered a court-martial on charges that (a) he improperly recorded classified military information in private records and (b) failed properly to safeguard classified military information.

The courtmartial was ordered closed to the public "because of the classified nature of much of the evidence."

Kelly Clemency Hearing

Albany, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—Gov. Dewey today scheduled a clemency hearing Aug. 18 for Edward H. Kelly, 52, convicted by an Ulster County Court jury of shooting Eloise McHugh, a mother of four children, from a parked car on a Kingston street in 1950. The death sentence was upheld by the Court of Appeals July 15. The clemency hearing will be held in the executive chambers (1:30 p. m., EST).

Three Centuries Are Revived in Kingston Pageant

Stadium Extravaganza Is Due Again Tonight, Friday, Saturday at 8:30 P.M.

Faint stars struggled dimly through clouds at the municipal stadium last night as three centuries of Kingston history came vividly to life.

A riot of character and costume, quaint dress and brilliant color, flowed with remarkable smoothness through 15 episodes of The Land of Beauty, a historic pageant composed by Mrs. Raymond R. Gross and directed by W. Irving Rose.

Before a blue curtain stretching 150 feet across the stadium grass the panorama unreeled, colorful costumes glowing in powerful spotlights, often dozens or scores of figures appearing in a single scene. The episodes, pantomimed to the tape-recorded accompaniment of voice and music, followed each other with easy fluency quite striking in a performance of such scope and size of cast.

Lasts Two Hours

The stands were about half full as the two-hour spectacle commenced. The pageant which will also be presented at 8:30 tonight, Friday night and Saturday night at the stadium, was made possible by the cooperation of a large number of local citizens and organizations and is a fitting and impressive contribution to the celebration of Kingston's 300th anniversary. The excellence and skill of the recording deserves special mention also. The voices, which often attain striking effects, were supplied by members of the Coach House Players.

In the eerie gloom of late twilight at the stadium the pageant began. The stands and field were in complete darkness.

Music interpreting the radiant beauty of the new world as seen by the eyes of Hendrick Hudson and his crew floated out of the soft night, mingled with the weird beat of tom-toms, "the infernal drums" concealed in the Indian forests of the "land of beauty."

From this prologue, setting a mood, the first four episodes are unrolled, depicting the coming of the first settlers, their life in the early days and their relations with the Indians. A recruiter of deeds was sent for and the settlers, led by Thomas Chambers, purchased 76 acres of land. A long series of incidents between the Indians and the white men followed, leading to the massacre of 1663 when many of the early settlers lost their lives or were abducted.

President Uses Firmness in Face-to-Face Meeting at Capital

Washington, July 24 (AP)—President Truman told the chieftains of the steel industry and the CIO to their faces today that they must end the economy-wrecking steel strike at once.

Then he sent them to the cabinet room of the White House to work out the differences that brought on the strike of 650,000 steelworkers 53 days ago.

Truman's pep talk lasted 10 minutes. The meeting between CIO head Philip Murray, president of the CIO, and Benjamin Fairless, head of the U. S. Steel Corp., went on for an hour and 40 minutes.

Murray and Fairless left the White House together and told newsmen they'd be back at 1:30 p. m. (EST).

Concrete Structure to House Branch Uptown by January

Postmaster William R. Kraft announced today that the Post Office Department has accepted the proposal of the First Dutch Reformed Church to erect a building to house the uptown branch post office on the site of the church's parsonage at 50 Main street.

The building will be of concrete with a Colonial brick front and will provide about 2,000 square feet of floor space, almost double that in the station now housed in the McGrath building on Clinton avenue.

To Get New Equipment

Latest equipment and facilities will be installed and department plans presently call for completion of the structure for occupancy by Jan. 1, 1953, the date on which the lease on the present quarters expires. The building is to be built by the church and rented to the Post Office Department.

Harvey S. Kolts represented the church and Post Office Inspector John W. Hartwell represented the department in the negotiations.

Postmaster Kraft said he had long desired a suitable station at a convenient location in the uptown area, and the new building will fill all requirements. He expressed thanks to the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, the Uptown Business Men's Association and the service clubs "for their splendid cooperation while negotiations were pending and especially to Harvey S. Kolts for his untiring efforts in making this new station a reality."

Six Jets Chase Mysterious Object

Air Force Decides Item Is Only Balloon for Weather Check

Columbus, O., July 24 (AP)—Six armed jet planes thundered high into the skies over central Ohio last night, chasing a mysterious object they never did catch.

Thousands of persons on the ground thought they might be watching a flying saucer, but the air force decided it was only a weather research balloon.

TV Station WTVN in Columbus interrupted the Democratic National Convention to televise the object and the jet chase through a powerful telephoto lens.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Columbus estimated the balloon was drifting well above 65,000 feet—a height ordinarily out of reach of the naked eye. Such balloons usually can go about 100,000 feet before they burst and drop their recording data by parachute.

But exceptionally clear skies and the apparently enormous size of the balloon made it an easy target for ground observers.

Barkley Is Acclaimed At Chicago

Vice President Produces Off-Cuff Address Which Arouses Crowd at Convention

Record Is Lauded

His Theme Is Hinged to What He Calls His Party's Progress

Chicago, July 24 (AP)—They said Alben W. Barkley was "too old."

They said he was a fine gentleman and a distinguished public figure, but heavy with years, too many years, to be the Democratic candidate for the presidency.

The Democratic convention is on fire today because of the man who was "too old."

It is blazing with the new life and spirit he breathed into it last night when he spoke to more than 12,000 people, whipped them into a frenzy of excitement, and stirred one of the unforgettable spectacles of a generation.

His appearance at the convention was intended as a kind of "consolation prize" for a man deeply hurt.

Three days before, the 74-year-old vice president was a candidate, campaigning actively to be his party's choice for the presidency. Then, as he put it, "some self-anointed political labor leaders" suddenly withdrew the support he had supposed they would give him. They said he was "too old."

Barkley took himself out of the race.

Warmth and Sympathy

There was a tremendous explosion of warmth and sympathy and affection when the "Veep" marched down the platform onto the rostrum last night. The organ began to play "My Old Kentucky Home" and rolling billows of music and cheering thundered through the great hall.

The delegates, caught up in a rip-tide of excitement, stormed into the aisles, waving placards, screaming and cheering, chanting "we want Barkley."

Finally, they let him speak.

He had no manuscript and the teleprompter was blank and dark. He said he had not had time, "since I received this invitation," to write a speech.

He said, "I am not here as a candidate for any office this convention can confer." In the back of the hall, and in the galleries a chorus welled up "No—No."

The "Veep" shook his head.

Reviews Record

He put on his glasses. A film of perspiration began to shine on his neck. As he spoke, reviewing the 20-year record of the Democrats, his voice began to gather volume and momentum. He said:

"I believe the programs of the Democratic party give the greatest good to the greatest number of the American people and if I did not believe that, I would join some other party that does believe in those eternal and immortal principles."

Then he turned to the Republicans, recalling that Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP nominee, had said he was going to lead a crusade.

"We are not beginning a crusade," Barkley shouted. "We are continuing a crusade . . . a crusade to see to it that every

Newsmen Forsee Voting Dead Heat

Chicago, July 24 (AP)—A poll of 100 newspapermen covering the Democratic convention shows today they expect nearly a dead heat in the presidential election, if it's Stevenson vs. Eisenhower.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, got the nod by one vote over Illinois' Gov. Adlai Stevenson, being boomed as the Democrats' standard bearer.

Results, with 28 in doubt, were: Eisenhower 39, Stevenson 38.

'52 Platform Of Democrats Passes Parley

Chicago, July 24 (AP)—Democrats pledged prosperity, peace and progress to the nation's voters today in a platform that avoided past party feuds over "civil rights."

A quick decision by Speaker Sam Rayburn, after a mixed shout of yea and no votes, put the National Convention's official approval on the new campaign document early this morning.

Delegates from Georgia and Mississippi asked to be recorded as voting "no" and one from Tennessee objected to the platform's lack of a congressional crime investigating committee plank.

But skillful maneuvers by Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, platform chairman, and National Committee Chairman Frank McKinney produced a fair sample of party harmony.

The party's 1952 platform in brief:

CIVIL RIGHTS — Favors Federal legislation to wipe out racial discriminations. Declares cooperative efforts of state and local governments are required also.

FOREIGN POLICY — Promises to carry on the "practical and successful" policies developed under Roosevelt-Truman administrations. Sets a goal of "peace with honor."

NATIONAL DEFENSE — Pledges the party to stand "unequivocally" for "strong, balanced" defense forces for this country—land, sea and air.

INFLATION—Promises to strengthen controls which it says

Cost of Living Peak Was Reached in June

Washington, July 24 (AP)—The cost of living, as measured by the government, soared to an all-time high in mid-June.

Figures made public today by the Bureau of Labor statistics showed that on June 15 the price of food, clothing, rent, entertainment and other daily living costs was 189.6 per cent of the 1935-1939 period.

That was 11.4 per cent higher than two years ago, just before the Korean fighting started.

The cost-of-living index jumped five tenths of a point over the previous record high for last January, under the pressure of higher costs for food and rent, and miscellaneous goods and services.

About 40,000 wage-earners may get a pay hike as a result of the new index. These workers have contracts which tie their wages to the rise and fall of the index.

Others Stay In Fight as Time Nears

Actual Balloting Due at Night Session—No Word From Stevenson on Acceptance

Truman Is Silent

No Public Statement Comes From President About Candidate

Convention Hall, Chicago, July 24 (AP)—The Democratic convention came to its candidate picking time today with "Draft Stevenson" sentiment running high.

As delegates began trooping into this big amphitheatre for the climactic day of the party's 31st nominating convention, it was an odds-on bet that the presidential nomination would be thrust upon Adlai Stevenson who says he wants only to run for re-election as Illinois governor.

But Sens. Richard Russell of Georgia and Estes Kefauver of Tennessee were still in there pitching. So was Averell Harriman, the Mutual Security administrator.

Convention managers planned to hold off the actual balloting until a night session.

A day meeting was set aside for the preliminaries of nominating speeches, demonstrations and the hoopla that sets the stage.

As the hour approached, Stevenson still wasn't saying whether he would accept. But nobody doubted that he would.

No Word From Truman

And there was still no public word from President Truman as to his views—something many delegates had hoped for.

Kansas delegates, who have been on the fence, plumped to Stevenson with their 16 convention votes at a pre-session caucus.

Californians, backing Kefauver, heard a plea from Rep. Clinton McKinnon, their chairman, to stand firm.

McKinnon told them: "The bandwagon is rolling in the direction of Stevenson. But if we can hold the line—if we can stop Stevenson on the second ballot, the votes for favorite sons candidates and others can be diverted to Kefauver.

The Kansas votes raised to 182 the total of known prospective first ballot votes for Stevenson, as disclosed by an AP poll of delegates.

Kefauver has 263, Russell 165½, and Harriman 107.

The 52-year-old Illinois governor may be tabbed on a short-count ballot with three southern states—South Carolina, Virginia and Louisiana—sitting it out.

Prompted by Feud

This Dixie-sitdown, prompted by a feud over a party loyalty pledge, seemed likely to impel the selection of a southerner for second place on the ticket.

This would be a direct attempt to offset the reputed popularity of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, below the Mason and Dixon line.

For this role, delegates were pointing toward Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia—if he would take it. Russell told his campaign strategists he couldn't conceive of any circumstances in which he would trade a powerful place in the Senate for the standby job of vice president.

If he is unavailable, Sens. John Sparkman of Alabama and William Fulbright of Arkansas, both with "Fair Deal" leanings, were handy.

Russell's campaign manager, Sen. Edward Johnson of Colorado, predicted the Georgia senator would win the presidential nomination on the 10th ballot.

The camps of other avowed candidates also exuded public confidence.

Kefauver Leads

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, leading the field in publicly committed delegates, plugged away at getting secondary choice ballots after the first count. Credited with 263 sure votes, he expected many more on that initial test.

Supporters of Averell Harriman of New York, clutched to the hope that the Stevenson draft movement would flop and the party would turn to its only all-out "Fair Deal" candidate, namely Harriman.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma hoped to pick up the pieces if the leading candidates should fight themselves to an exhausted standstill.

Bus Line Is Given Permission by PSC To Combine Rides

The Kingston City Transportation Corp., announced yesterday, that the Public Service Commission had granted it permission to combine its Fairview-Lucas and Wilbur runs and will start the new schedule Aug. 3.

The consolidation will mean one instead of two trips an hour because of the distance traveled.

One bus will cover the run. The same transfer service will be maintained, and a bus company official said that while the time schedule will require a half hour longer the service will be improved in "some respects," because there will be more direct service from the Wilbur section to the uptown area and from uptown to the downtown sector.

"We feel the new schedule will serve the public adequately," the official said. The new schedule will be found elsewhere in this newspaper.

The new bus run begins at Wall and Main streets, goes to North Front, over Washington and Hurley avenues to Coffey Place. Then over Howland and Fairview avenues to Marilina avenue, over Meritt and Lucas avenues to Miller's Lane. From there to Grandview avenue to Main street, over

Eisenhower Aides Set to Work To Woo Democrats, Others

Denver, July 24 (AP)—Political advisers to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, moved today to set up a program aimed primarily at wooing Independents and disgruntled Democrats to his support.

The move is based, these advisers said, on a call by the General himself for continuation and expansion of the National Citizens for Eisenhower Committee — an organization they credited with having played a major role in his successful bid for the GOP nomination.

Sen. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania outlined the plan at a news conference here last night after he and two other Eisenhower leaders had conferred with the general at his vacation retreat near Fraser, Colo., 72 miles west of Denver.

Duff, Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado, and Ralph Cake, GOP National Committeeman from Oregon, spent most of the day with Eisenhower and discussed, Duff reported, virtually every phase of the forthcoming campaign.

The day started with a breakfast of flapjacks and bacon, which Eisenhower cooked. The General also prepared lunch—trout, salad and mashed potatoes.

At the Denver news conference in the Eisenhower campaign headquarters, Duff and Cake said particular emphasis had been placed at the Fraser huddle on a need for continuing and stepping up the activities of the Citizens Committee. The organization is head-

Six Red Rail Bridges Hit By United Nations Pilots

Seoul, Korea, July 24—United Nations pilots said they destroyed six Communist rail bridges deep in North Korea today in a followup to yesterday's deadly coordinated bombing of Communist port and power facilities.

U. S. Air Force Mustangs, Shooting Stars and Thunderjets cut three bridges and damaged two in northwest Korea. Thunderjet pilots said they wiped out three more bridges near Kowon on the east coast.

Some 200 U. S. Marine, Air Force, South Korean, South African and Australian jets and bombers teamed with navy planes from two fast U. S. carriers Wednesday. Their target was the Wonsan area of North Eastern Korea.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said its Sabre jets and fighter bombers went out in big numbers again today.

On the ground, the eighth-day battle for Old Baldy Hill west of Chorwon fell off to sporadic artillery, mortar and small arms fire. Associated Press photographer George Sweers said the Chinese still held the crest of the western front hotspot.

The navy said Panther jets, Skyraiders and Corsairs from the carriers Bon Homme Richard and Princeton demolished three steam electric plants near the battered port of Wonsan.

F-51 Mustangs, F-80 Shooting Stars and F-84 Thunderjets, in two waves of about 100 each, turned Osan, a Communist supply port 10 miles south of Wonsan, into a raging inferno.

Barkley took himself out of the race.

Warmth and Sympathy

There was a tremendous explosion of warmth and sympathy and affection when the "Veep" marched down the platform onto the rostrum last night. The organ began to play "My Old Kentucky Home" and rolling billows of music and cheering thundered through the great hall.

The delegates, caught up in a rip-tide of excitement, stormed into the aisles, waving placards, screaming and cheering, chanting "we want Barkley."

Finally, they let him speak.

He had no manuscript and the teleprompter was blank and dark. He said he had not had time, "since I received this invitation," to write a speech.

He said, "I am not here as a candidate for any office this convention can confer." In the back of the hall, and in the galleries a chorus welled up "No—No."

The "Veep" shook his head.

Reviews Record

He put on his glasses. A film of perspiration began to shine on his neck. As he spoke, reviewing the 20-year record of the Democrats, his voice began to gather volume and momentum. He said:

"I believe the programs of the Democratic party give the greatest good to the greatest number of the American people and if I did not believe that, I would join some other party that does believe in those eternal and immortal principles."

Then he turned to the Republicans, recalling that Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP nominee, had said he was going to lead a crusade.

"We are not beginning a crusade," Barkley shouted. "We are continuing a crusade . . . a crusade to see to it that every

Newsmen Forsee Voting Dead Heat

Chicago, July 24 (AP)—A poll of 100 newspapermen covering the Democratic convention shows today they expect nearly a dead heat in the presidential election, if it's Stevenson vs. Eisenhower.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, got the nod by one vote over Illinois' Gov. Adlai Stevenson, being boomed as the Democrats' standard bearer.

Results, with 28 in doubt, were: Eisenhower 39, Stevenson 38.

'52 Platform Of Democrats Passes Parley

Chicago, July 24 (AP)—Democrats pledged prosperity, peace and progress to the nation's voters today in a platform that avoided past party feuds over "civil rights."

A quick decision by Speaker Sam Rayburn, after a mixed shout of yea and no votes, put the National Convention's official approval on the new campaign document early this morning.

Delegates from Georgia and Mississippi asked to be recorded as voting "no" and one from Tennessee objected to the platform's lack of a congressional crime investigating committee plank.

But skillful maneuvers by Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, platform chairman, and National Committee Chairman Frank McKinney produced a fair sample of party harmony.

The party's 1952 platform in brief:

CIVIL RIGHTS — Favors Federal legislation to wipe out racial discriminations. Declares cooperative efforts of state and local governments are required also.

FOREIGN POLICY — Promises to carry on the "practical and successful" policies developed under Roosevelt-Truman administrations. Sets a goal of "peace with honor."

NATIONAL DEFENSE — Pledges the party to stand "unequivocally" for "strong, balanced" defense forces for this country—land, sea and air.

INFLATION—Promises to strengthen controls which it says

Actual Balloting Due at Night Session—No Word From Stevenson on Acceptance

Truman Is Silent

No Public Statement Comes From President About Candidate

Convention Hall, Chicago, July 24 (AP)—The Democratic convention came to its candidate picking time today with "Draft Stevenson" sentiment running high.

As delegates began trooping into this big amphitheatre for the climactic day of the party's 31st nominating convention, it was an odds-on bet that the presidential nomination would be thrust upon Adlai Stevenson who says he wants only to run for re-election as Illinois governor.

But Sens. Richard Russell of Georgia and Estes Kefauver of Tennessee were still in there pitching. So was Averell Harriman, the Mutual Security administrator.

Convention managers planned to hold off the actual balloting until a night session.

A day meeting was set aside for the preliminaries of nominating speeches, demonstrations and the hoopla that sets the stage.

As the hour approached, Stevenson still wasn't saying whether he would accept. But nobody doubted that he would.

No Word From Truman

And there was still no public word from President Truman as to his views—something many delegates had hoped for.

Kansas delegates, who have been on the fence, plumped to Stevenson with their 16 convention votes at a pre-session caucus.

Californians, backing Kefauver, heard a plea from Rep. Clinton McKinnon, their chairman, to stand firm.

McKinnon told them: "The bandwagon is rolling in the direction of Stevenson. But if we can hold the line—if we can stop Stevenson on the second ballot, the votes for favorite sons candidates and others can be diverted to Kefauver.

The Kansas votes raised to 182 the total of known prospective first ballot votes for Stevenson, as disclosed by an AP poll of delegates.

Kefauver has 263, Russell 165½, and Harriman 107.

The 52-year-old Illinois governor may be tabbed on a short-count ballot with three southern states—South Carolina, Virginia and Louisiana—sitting it out.

Prompted by Feud

This Dixie-sitdown, prompted by a feud over a party loyalty pledge, seemed likely to impel the selection of a southerner for second place on the ticket.

This would be a direct attempt to offset the reputed popularity of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, below the Mason and Dixon line.

For this role, delegates were pointing toward Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia—if he would take it. Russell told his campaign strategists he couldn't conceive of any circumstances in which he would trade a powerful place in the Senate for the standby job of vice president.

If he is unavailable, Sens. John Sparkman of Alabama and William Fulbright of Arkansas, both with "Fair Deal" leanings, were handy.

Russell's campaign manager, Sen. Edward Johnson of Colorado, predicted the Georgia senator would win the presidential nomination on the 10th ballot.

The camps of other avowed candidates also exuded public confidence.

Kefauver Leads

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, leading the field in publicly committed delegates, plugged away at getting secondary choice ballots after the first count. Credited with 263 sure votes, he expected many more on that initial test.

Supporters of Averell Harriman of New York, clutched to the hope that the Stevenson draft movement would flop and the party would turn to its only all-out "Fair Deal" candidate, namely Harriman.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma hoped to pick up the pieces if the leading candidates should fight themselves to an exhausted standstill.

General's Diary Now Classified as U. S. 'Top Secret'

General Grow's Trial Is Being Held in Maryland—Memos 'Exhibit A'

Washington, July 24 (AP)—The army now has classified as "top secret" an American general's diary whose contents have been known to Russia for a year.

The move to prevent public knowledge of what the document contained, it became apparent today, is part of the iron curtain of secrecy thrown around the courtmartial of Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow.

The diary is presumably "Exhibit A" of the trial, which began yesterday at Fort George G. Meade, Md.

The case exploded in the army's face last January when a Communist book appeared in East Germany containing what it said were excerpts from the diary kept by Grow, then the military attache at the U. S. Embassy in Moscow.

The excerpts included discussion of the need for war with Russia now and mentioned trips Grow allegedly made to study Russian military defense installations.

The army said a Soviet agent got hold of the diary while Grow was on a visit to Frankfurt, in the U. S. zone of Germany, last summer, by entering the general's hotel room during his absence.

The army hastily recalled Grow to the United States, without allowing him to return to Moscow; made an investigation, and ordered a court-martial on charges that (a) he improperly recorded classified military information in private records and (b) failed properly to safeguard classified military information.

The courtmartial was ordered closed to the public "because of the classified nature of much of the evidence."

Kelly Clemency Hearing

Albany, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—Gov. Dewey today scheduled a clemency hearing Aug. 18 for Edward H. Kelly, 52, convicted by an Ulster County Court jury of shooting Eloise McHugh, a mother of four children, from a parked car on a Kingston street in 1950. The death sentence was upheld by the Court of Appeals July 15. The clemency hearing will be held in the executive chambers (1:30 p. m., EST).

Three Centuries Are Revived in Kingston Pageant

Stadium Extravaganza Is Due Again Tonight, Friday, Saturday at 8:30 P.M.

Faint stars struggled dimly through clouds at the municipal stadium last night as three centuries of Kingston history came vividly to life.

A riot of character and costume, quaint dress and brilliant color, flowed with remarkable smoothness through 15 episodes of The Land of Beauty, a historic pageant composed by Mrs. Raymond R. Gross and directed by W. Irving Rose.

Before a blue curtain stretching 150 feet across the stadium grass the panorama unreeled, colorful costumes glowing in powerful spotlights, often dozens or scores of figures appearing in a single scene. The episodes, pantomimed to the tape-recorded accompaniment of voice and music, followed each other with easy fluency quite striking in a performance of such scope and size of cast.

Lasts Two Hours

The stands were about half full as the two-hour spectacle commenced. The pageant which will also be presented at 8:30 tonight, Friday night and Saturday night at the stadium, was made possible by the cooperation of a large number of local citizens and organizations and is a fitting and impressive contribution to the celebration of Kingston's 300th anniversary. The excellence and skill of the recording deserves special mention also. The voices, which often attain striking effects, were supplied by members of the Coach House Players.

In the eerie gloom of late twilight at the stadium the pageant began. The stands and field were in complete darkness.

Music interpreting the radiant beauty of the new world as seen by the eyes of Hendrick Hudson and his crew floated out of the soft night, mingled with the weird beat of tom-toms, "the infernal drums" concealed in the Indian forests of the "land of beauty."

From this prologue, setting a mood, the first four episodes are unrolled, depicting the coming of the first settlers, their life in the early days and their relations with the Indians. A recruiter of deeds was sent for and the settlers, led by Thomas Chambers, purchased 76 acres of land. A long series of incidents between the Indians and the white men followed, leading to the massacre of 1663 when many of the early settlers lost their lives or were abducted.

Remains With Indians

Buttons Are All Gone

Chicago, July 24 (AP) — The people who helped whistle up the draft-Stevenson move find it's blown them clear out of campaign buttons. A week ago they had 3,000 of them—big, shiny red-white-and-blue buttons saying, "America needs Stevenson for president." Today: Not a one that isn't pinned to somebody.

Bus Line Is Given Permission by PSC To Combine Rides

The Kingston City Transportation Corp., announced yesterday, that the Public Service Commission had granted it permission to combine its Fairview-Lucas and Wilbur runs and will start the new schedule Aug. 3.

The consolidation will mean one instead of two trips an hour because of the distance traveled.

One bus will cover the run. The same transfer service will be maintained, and a bus company official said that while the time schedule will require a half hour longer the service will be improved in "some respects," because there will be more direct service from the Wilbur section to the uptown area and from uptown to the downtown sector.

"We feel the new schedule will serve the public adequately," the official said. The new schedule will be found elsewhere in this newspaper.

The new bus run begins at Wall and Main streets, goes to North Front, over Washington and Hurley avenues to Coffey Place. Then over Howland and Fairview avenues to Marilina avenue, over Meritt and Lucas avenues to Miller's Lane. From there to Grandview avenue to Main street, over

Denver, July 24 (AP)—Political advisers to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, moved today to set up a program aimed primarily at wooing Independents and disgruntled Democrats to his support.

The move is based, these advisers said, on a call by the General himself for continuation and expansion of the National Citizens for Eisenhower Committee — an organization they credited with having played a major role in his successful bid for the GOP nomination.

Sen. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania outlined the plan at a news conference here last night after he and two other Eisenhower leaders had conferred with the general at his vacation retreat near Fraser, Colo., 72 miles west of Denver.

Duff, Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado, and Ralph Cake, GOP National Committeeman from Oregon, spent most of the day with Eisenhower and discussed, Duff reported, virtually every phase of the forthcoming campaign.

The day started with a breakfast of flapjacks and bacon, which Eisenhower cooked. The General also prepared lunch—trout, salad and mashed potatoes.

At the Denver news conference in the Eisenhower campaign headquarters, Duff and Cake said particular emphasis had been placed at the Fraser huddle on a need for continuing and stepping up the activities of the Citizens Committee. The organization is head-

Southerners Have Word and Greeting

Six Red Rail Bridges Hit By United Nations Pilots

Seoul, Korea, July 24—United Nations pilots said they destroyed six Communist rail bridges deep in North Korea today in a followup to yesterday's deadly coordinated bombing of Communist port and power facilities.

U. S. Air Force Mustangs, Shooting Stars and Thunderjets cut three bridges and damaged two in northwest Korea. Thunderjet pilots said they wiped out three more bridges near Kowon on the east coast.

Some 200 U. S. Marine, Air Force, South Korean, South African and Australian jets and bombers teamed with navy planes from two fast U. S. carriers Wednesday. Their target was the Wonsan area of North Eastern Korea.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said its Sabre jets and fighter bombers went out in big numbers again today.

On the ground, the eighth-day battle for Old Baldy Hill west of Chorwon fell off to sporadic artillery, mortar and small arms fire. Associated Press photographer George Sweers said the Chinese still held the crest of the western front hotspot.

The navy said Panther jets, Skyraiders and Corsairs from the carriers Bon Homme Richard and Princeton demolished three steam electric plants near the battered port of Wonsan.

F-51 Mustangs, F-80 Shooting Stars and F-84 Thunderjets, in two waves of about 100 each, turned Osan, a Communist supply port 10 miles south of Wonsan, into a raging inferno.

Cost of Living Peak Was Reached in June

Washington, July 24 (AP)—The cost of living, as measured by the government, soared to an all-time high in mid-June.

Figures made public today by the Bureau of Labor statistics showed that on June 15 the price of food, clothing, rent, entertainment and other daily living costs was 189.6 per cent of the 1935-1939 period.

That was 11.4 per cent higher than two years ago, just before the Korean fighting started.

The cost-of-living index jumped five tenths of a point over the previous record high for last January, under the pressure of higher costs for food and rent, and miscellaneous goods and services.

About 40,000 wage-earners may get a pay hike as a result of the new index. These workers have contracts which tie their wages to the rise and fall of the index.

Will Get Report On Disease 'Lab'

Orono, Me., July 24 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan will get a report this week from a committee which held public hearings on establishment of a laboratory to study hoof and mouth disease in cattle.

Arthur L. Beering, dean of agriculture at the University of Maine and a member of the panel, said the preferred site is Plum Island, off the eastern tip of Long Island, N. Y., the location, he said, rests entirely with Brannan.

Hearings were held last week at Connecticut and Long Island.

Lobster Is Tasty Summer Dish

CREAMED CANNED LOBSTER served with whole crisp red radishes is a tasty and inexpensive summer meal.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Canned rock lobster is good hot weather fare and is also easy on the budget. It comes in large meaty pieces.

Personally, we think it is improved by a little extra seasoning, such as red pepper, lemon juice or aromatic bitters.

Rock Lobster Cakes (4-5 servings)

Two cans South African rock lobster, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 2 eggs, 3 to 4 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon aromatic bitters.

Combine flaked rock lobster meat with bread crumbs, egg, mayonnaise, mustard and bitters. Form into 12 small cakes. Dip in flour and saute on both sides in butter or margarine.

Creamed Rock Lobster Angostura (5-6 servings)

Two cans South African rock lobster, 5 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 4 tablespoons flour, 2½ cups milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon aromatic bitters, ½ cup diced celery.

Melt butter or margarine. Add onion and cook 2 minutes over very low heat until slightly tender but not yellow. Stir in flour until well blended. Add milk gradually, while stirring over low heat. Add salt, pepper and bitters. Add celery.

Remove rock lobster meat from can, break meat up into small pieces and add. Mix well and place in individual shallow ovenproof dishes. Brown lightly in moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.).

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Raspberries and sliced bananas, scrambled eggs with chives, enriched toast, butter or margarine, honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Sardine sandwiches, tomato and cucumber sandwiches, raw carrot sticks, blackberry tarts, tea, milk.

DINNER: Creamed rock lobster, Angostura, steamed rice, buttered peas with celery leaves, crusty rolls, butter or margarine, tomato salad. French dressing, watermelon, coffee, milk.

51 New Polio Cases Reported by State

Albany, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—Fifty-one new cases of infantile paralysis were reported in counties outside New York city in the week ended July 19, the state health department said today.

The total compared to 33 cases reported for the corresponding week last year.

The new cases bring the total for the year to 143, compared to 121 for the similar 1951 period.

Westchester county topped the list last week with 11 new cases. Nassau and Orange counties each had eight.

To Complete Balloting

Amsterdam, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—CIO Textile Workers on strike against the Mohawk Carpet Co. complete their balloting today on a proposal to end their eight-week walkout with a 7-cent-an-hour wage increase. The company and officials of Local 789, Textile Workers Union of America, agreed last week on a contract that would include the increase and a compromise on other issues. The 4,000 members of the local began voting yesterday on whether to ratify the proposal.

Issue Is Debated

Munsan, Korea, July 24 (AP)—United Nations and Communist negotiators debated the truce-blocking prisoner exchange issue in secret for 26 minutes today—longest Korean parleys session this week. After the meeting in sweltering heat at Panmunjom it was reported only that the negotiators will meet again at 11 a. m. tomorrow (9 p. m. Thursday EST).

Only One Hurt Badly

Pithiviers, France, July 24 (AP)—A four-engined British military plane with 60 passengers and crewmen aboard crashed and exploded in flames near here last night but only one person was seriously hurt. Three others received slight injuries.

Will Get Report On Disease 'Lab'

Orono, Me., July 24 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan will get a report this week from a committee which held public hearings on establishment of a laboratory to study hoof and mouth disease in cattle.

Arthur L. Beering, dean of agriculture at the University of Maine and a member of the panel, said the preferred site is Plum Island, off the eastern tip of Long Island, N. Y., the location, he said, rests entirely with Brannan.

Hearings were held last week at Connecticut and Long Island.

SHAPE OF THE FUTURE

The United States must stop thinking of itself as the richest nation in the world and start a program to conserve its natural resources, according to a scholarly, nonpartisan report lately compiled by the President's Special Materials Policy committee. It says there is no absolute shortage of raw materials in this country, but that the growing demand for the diminishing supply will increase their cost to a point where the nation's living standards and security will be jeopardized.

Assuming that our population and production will continue to grow during the next 23 years at the same rate as in the last quarter-century, the report concludes that our resources will be used up faster than they are now and that the cost of extracting them will rise sharply. Urging an end to America's waste of raw materials, it states that in the past coal mines have been abandoned before half the coal was extracted, and that enough natural gas is wasted in a year to supply 11,000,000 homes.

The end of America's economic isolation, permissible in the past when the nation's supply of raw materials exceeded its demand, is at hand. A wise America will seek a close economic and political integration of the free world, including areas such as Africa, so that industrial states can trade finished products for supplies of raw materials to the mutual benefit of participating nations.

TICKET MACHINE

Enforcement of traffic regulations is hampered in most places by motorists with influence who manage, somehow, to dispose of traffic tickets without paying fines. In New York City a new and expensive machine is in use which files tickets of traffic offenders, discloses whether the offender has committed previous infractions of the law and assigns the case to a judge for disposition. A violator is given a ticket by a policeman who retains a stub which when placed in the machine starts the motorist on his way to punishment.

Using influence to fix traffic tickets is indulged in by people who consider themselves citizens above reproach. But such "fixes" discourage honest policemen, grant power to politicians which they should not have and help to destroy impartiality before the law which is so important a part of our system.

The machine used in New York eliminates most possibilities for a fixed ticket. The process is too expensive for most communities. But some other method of enforcing laws with equal severity on all violators may be just as efficient. Surely ours is not a civilization where justice can be administered only through the use of a complicated machine.

NOT THE WAY TO IKE'S HEART

From Europe come reports, disquieting if true, that France is sliding away from her earlier enthusiasm for a European army and now favors a more nationalistic tie-up with England.

The cause for such an action would not be hard to see. France looks with increasing concern upon the continued resurgence of her ancient enemy, Germany, as a European power.

France realizes at the same time that the rise of Western Germany, at least, is due in some part to the United States, which has striven hard to get the Bonn Republic to take a strong place in the European army.

So, seeking some balance against the growing power of Germany, France reportedly is tending toward ties with England, which has stood firm in its position not to join a European army.

This shift in attitude on the part of the French, if such it can be called at this stage, comes at a strange time.

It might be thought that following General Eisenhower's nomination for the presidency, the prestige of that favorite American of the French would make itself felt in sentiment favoring Western European union, one of his favorite programs.

Certainly, if Eisenhower should be elected in November, Western Europe could expect to have an American chief of state as sympathetic to their problems as President Truman has been. And certainly France knows that the way to a man's heart is not by slighting his pet projects.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

KEFAUVER'S HANDICAP

Should Estes Kefauver be nominated, the Republicans could make no issue of corruption because Kefauver has established that he is not only the enemy of corruption but has actually done something about it.

But what does that do to his defense of the Truman Administration? As the Republicans are now precluded from discussing the foreign policy what will there be to talk about, should Kefauver run? Perhaps the Republicans will fall back upon efficiency in government and the Hoover Commission Report.

On the matter of corruption in the Federal Government, under our Constitutional system, the President is responsible. He alone is charged with the administration of government. He appoints officials, sometimes with the consent of the Senate.

The London "Economist" put it this way in an interesting article on the subject. It says:

". . . The President bears a clear responsibility for the behaviour of those whom he has appointed to posts in the executive branch of the government. If an unduly large proportion of them turns out to be corrupt or to have permitted corruption among their subordinates, there is no difficulty about assigning the blame. It would be a far more complicated thing to try to demonstrate just who should be brought to judgment for corruption in, say, the Congress, or the ranks of what is imprecisely called 'business.' And the consequences of assaults on such alternative objectives might be much more unpleasant."

The answer to this was given by Herbert Hoover in his speech before the Republican Convention, when he said:

"The grandeur of a people comes from their moral and spiritual character. Today that grandeur is corroded by this intellectual dishonesty and corruption among public officials. The drip, drip, drip from dishonor in high places plays a part in the increasing of crime among the people."

Senator Kefauver could say that he abhors corruption wherever it appears and he has no ties either in Congress or with business. Thus, he could as a candidate reveal more than his report or his articles have yet told. He could keep the country regaled with the subject. And he could involve both Democrats and Republicans. He might even discuss the high cost of getting nominated.

It would seem to be a matter of practical party politics for the Democrats to avoid Kefauver. Whichever Democrat is nominated will have to formulate a campaign that will defeat General Eisenhower. The strategy has to be based on two propositions:

1. To puncture the general's personal popularity;

2. To create an issue that will leave Eisenhower without an issue.

Kefauver would do it with corruption; his friend, Paul Douglas, would do it with a competent discussion of the economics of this country and sound administration of government. The Republicans would have a difficult time attacking either of these men on their records.

But the real difficulty for the Democrats would be that whatever exposure came of it would condemn Truman, his subordinates, his cronies, perhaps some of the important business men of the country who found ways of improving their own situations by fixing officials. It would be a vital campaign and the Republicans would not even be in it.

That is why Kefauver is being opposed by the leaders of his own party. That is not the kind of campaign they want to wage. It is too dangerous for too many important people.

Should Kefauver find that he cannot get the nomination, he is likely to support Senator Paul Douglas.

Douglas is a most unusual character. I first knew him at Columbia University when we were both boys. He was then a theoretical Socialist, but a stickler for facts. A scholar, a stern New Englander with all of the Yankee's sense of thrift, he specialized in economics, in labor problems, in money.

He was then more handsome than he is today, but was always a leader among men, greatly admired by those who like to see a keen, precise mind at work.

During most of his life, Paul Douglas taught in a number of universities, reaching a professorship at the University of Chicago. In World War 2, at the age of 50 he enlisted as a private in the Marine Corps, seeing overseas service and being wounded at Okinawa. He served in the Marine Corps from 1942 to 1945, reaching the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Douglas could make a powerful adversary against the Republican candidate. But do the Democrats want a maverick?

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

SHOULD THE ELDERLY DO USEFUL WORK?

Now that so many men and women reach threescore and ten and seem to enjoy reasonably good health, whether they should do some form of useful work or do nothing but rest is put up to the physician by the individual himself or some member of his family. I have written before of how some industrial firms, some months before they pension off an employe, talk things over with him as to what he is going to do in his spare time. Some of these elderly folk have plans which they think will keep them healthy and happy while others have in mind only the great amount of leisure time they will have.

So important is this matter of watching the health of the elderly that the Journal of Gerontology is now being published in St. Louis. In this publication Dr. R. W. Kleemeier discusses programs of employment of residents in homes for the aged. To find whether such a work program benefits the individual, a survey was made of the activities and attitudes of residents of a fraternal home for the aged. Survey was made of men only chiefly because there were few women residents.

Of the men, 56 per cent were workers and 44 per cent non-workers. It has been estimated that to equal the part-time work of the residents in this institution would require more than 70 additional full-time employes on the staff.

That this working part-time is meaningful rather than just "made work" is shown by the list of jobs held by the residents: Cook, kitchen helper, dining room helper, yard man, janitor, watchman, hospital orderly, truck driver, farm hand, barber, shopkeeper, carpenter, joiner, painter, plumber, meat cutter, postman and practical nurse.

Participation in the work program is strongly encouraged but the individual can take his choice, to be a worker or a non-worker. While workers and non-workers receive money allowances, those for the workers are greater and vary with the kind of work.

What did the survey show?

The survey showed that (1) workers obtained higher scores than non-workers with the same degree of health, (2) workers carried higher scores in adjustment to life dealing with the areas of health, work, feelings of usefulness, and happiness.

Dr. Kleemeier concludes that useful part-time work promotes happiness and adjustment to life in the elderly.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Chicago—The favorite occupation of this convention is quoting President Truman as to who he is for. There are half a dozen cabinet members here, plus a score of senators, plus certain highly placed Democratic bosses, plus two White House observers.

Some of them actually have access to the White House by telephone. Most of them don't. But from many you can get a whispered version of who the President wants or whom he doesn't want.

The situation is almost identical with the Chicago convention of 1944 when Franklin Roosevelt was en route by train to the west coast, and when Bob Hannegan, Ed Flynn of the Bronx, Mayor Kelly of Chicago and other party bosses undertook to tell the delegates who they should nominate as vice president. That was the memorable occasion when Hannegan, then national chairman, produced a letter listing first Senator Harry Truman then Justice William O. Douglas as FDR's preference for V.P.

It was not until some years later that Grace Tully, FDR's personal secretary, told how that letter had been retyped at Hannegan's direction in order to put Truman's name ahead of Douglas's.

Truman on Candidates

Today the man who benefited by that switch of names is in the White House, with the power to influence, perhaps to pick, his successor. Here is a summary of how he seems to be reacting:

In regular staff meetings, the President has played his political cards close to his chest. Never has he disclosed his hand regarding a possible successor.

To a few extremely close advisers, however, he finally indicated that he would favor Averell Harriman, because of Harriman's 100 per cent support of the New-Fair Deal program. This was about two weeks before the convention.

When this word leaked out, however, Democratic Chairman Frank McKinney urged the President to reverse himself and take Vice President Alben Barkley instead. McKinney is reported to have warned that the party would be split wide open if anyone as controversial on the race question were nominated, and that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower could easily carry the south.

Several other southern Democrats whom the President trusts, made similar representations, and following this, Truman is reported to have given the word to McKinney that he could promote the vice president's candidacy.

Meanwhile, Mr. Truman still looks with favor on Harriman, also has no objection to Estes Kefauver, despite the fact that he has long been miffed at the Tennessee senator for the personal trouncing he gave the President in New Hampshire.

He is definitely thumbs down on Senators Robert S. Kerr and Richard B. Russell, however, and he has been miffed at Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois for being so aloof, though he still regards Stevenson as an excellent man.

That's about the way the President's variegated views have been expressed to intimates as the Democratic convention nears the voting stage.

Behind Russell's T.-H. Statement

Sen. Dick Russell's denial that John L. Lewis influenced him in making his statement for revision of the Taft-Hartley Act doesn't quite tell all the story.

What happened was that the Senator from Georgia had dinner with Chicago Boss Jake Arvey about ten days before the convention at which Dick put in a bid for Illinois' big bloc of delegates. Arvey, a diplomat, tried to let Russell down easily by explaining that his anti-labor record would be poison to the big-city wing of the party—especially his support of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Later Russell related this to his public relations adviser, David Charney, who also represents John L. Lewis. Lewis then concocted a statement, and slipped it to the Georgia senator through Charney. It may well be that Dick Russell didn't realize that it had come from Lewis, though he did have a luncheon with Lewis.

Note 1—In addition to the rage of Virginia delegates, Atlanta banker Freeman Strickland, treasurer of Russell's campaign, began burning up the wires to Chicago, told Dick that southern textile manufacturers were betrayed. Georgia's Gov. Herman Talmadge also raised Cain with Russell, was one of those who forced him to backtrack.

Note 2—Charney, one of the best public relations men in the business, was cross-examined by the Kefauver committee, because of alleged links with Frankie Costello. Kefauver probers found that he had never been the paid representative of Costello, though he had written favorable stories about him and was the applicant for the Copacabana Club's liquor license, a night spot established by some of Costello's friends from Saratoga.

Political observers consider it more than a coincidence that Charney should now be working for Sen. Russell as part of the stop-Kefauver campaign. Russell probably knew nothing about his background.

The Smoke Filled Rooms

Joe Leighton, Harriman's press chief, has tipped off Kefauver headquarters privately that Averell might be satisfied to be secretary of state, with Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. as vice president on a Kefauver ticket. . . . Chicago boss Jake Arvey has been passing out words to Illinois delegates to give the Veep a complimentary vote on the first ballot, then switch to Governor Stevenson in case of a draft-Stevenson boom. . . . Cong. William Dawson of Chicago, one of the only two Negroes in the House of Representatives, has received a steady stream of colored delegates from all over the country. He has been telling them to vote for anyone except Kefauver. (Some of the congressman's friends were in the Chicago numbers racket which Kefauver exposed).

An eight-year-old boy was parading in a political snake dance for Harriman. Asked why he was in favor of Harriman, he replied: "Youth is for Harriman." . . . Mrs. India Edwards has the unique distinction of being the only candidate not seeking the presidential nomination—she only wants to be vice president. . . . While every candidate wants Truman's support, Oscar Ewing's headquarters is the only one openly displaying pictures of the President.

Chicago Merry-Go-Round

A dead-ringer for Senator Kerr was walking around the Conrad Hilton lobby with a big Kefauver button on his lapel. He turned out to be Francis Robinson of Ashland, Nebr. He looked so much like Kerr that people stopped him. Once in Omaha he happened to go into Kerr's hotel and the desk gave him Kerr's keys. However, Robinson is 100 per cent for Kefauver.

Kefauver is renting the foyer in front of the main ballroom of the Hilton which Taft paid $1,000 a day for. The foyer costs Kefauver $100 a day.

Senator Kerr has the most garish headquarters, complete with a log cabin replica of his birthplace, free movies, which attract a motley group of nonvoting youngsters. Kerr also has a fancy juke box blaring out the tune "Oklahoma!"

Harriman has inquired of newsmen about the Kerr bribery stories. He seemed greatly interested.

A woman delegate was spotted walking through the Hilton lobby in a cream-colored dress embroidered with donkeys. Her name—Mrs. Dessie Sawyer of Cross Roads, New Mexico.

Stevenson Is Viewed as Winner in Race for Democratic Nomination at Chicago

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Chicago, Ill., July 24—Governor Stevenson remains tonight the leader in the race for the nomination. He will get it on an early ballot despite desperate attempts by the forces of the losing candidates to try to stop him. But when the wreckage is surveyed, it will take a keen and brilliant mind, such as Governor Stevenson possesses, to find some way to build a party strategy on the wreckage left in the wake of an irreconcilable feud.

There's a strange defensiveness about this whole Democratic national convention. The words and phrases of the platform and of the principal addresses dwell on the past—the record of 20 years of Democratic rule in Washington.

Whoever thought up that strategy certainly wouldn't find much corroboration for it in the speeches of the master strategist of the Democrats, the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, who, though fiercely satirical in his attacks on the opposition, always set his sights forward rather than to allow the listening public to become preoccupied with past history.

It works right into the hands of the Republicans to make an issue of 20 years of Democratic administration. It ignores the crying need for answers to what's coming next in the many critical problems that beset the country.

Naturally the Democrats point with satisfaction to their achievements. They take credit even for General Eisenhower's wartime activities. Governor Dever told the convention in his keynote address that Eisenhower was "a good general whose fame as a wartime commander was achieved as a lieutenant of Franklin Delano Roosevelt—and whose reputation in the rearmament of Europe in NATO was developed as the deputy of Harry S. Truman."

This is a new conception of what happens to a man when he dons the uniform of the United States. Apparently the idea now is that men in uniform are serving Harry S. Truman and not the flag or the government of the United States. What a strange philosophy for an administration speaker to utter in these days when Americans are dying in Korea supposedly for not only the United States but for the United Nations. The members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will be interested to learn that General Eisenhower was not appointed by the member countries, as hitherto proclaimed, but was merely on a parity with any other jobholder in the Democratic party.

To be fair to Governor Dever, it must be said that he probably learned a bit of this peculiar argument by listening to the opponents of General Eisenhower in the Republican pre-convention campaign who somehow convinced themselves that, to hold a military job under the commander in chief of the U. S. Army and Navy and Air Force is to become identified with the Democratic administration. Evidently General MacArthur, who held high posts as supreme commander in the Western Pacific and then as commander in chief of the Far East, got both appointments from Democratic administrations without becoming identified with the Democratic party. It would have been accurate if Governor Dever had attributed to Harry Truman whatever attention the former Far Eastern Commander got from the American people in the months following the summary dismissal of General MacArthur.

It is evident that the Democrats are going to persue that line of attack — that General Eisenhower is responsible for decisions made in foreign affairs—but this is likely to prove a boomerang, because the general may have something to say about how little the military has been consulted when commitments are made without an opportunity to assess the military responsibilities incurred. Korea was a case in point.

The Democratic platform writers have been agile in their phrase-making in matters of world policy and have claimed credit for whatever economic as well as military aid has been given the rest of the world, though the records will show that Republican votes always played a large part in each and every treaty or legislative act that marks our policies both during and since the war.

Certainly if bi-partisanship is to be carried forward in foreign policy, this Democratic convention has done everything it could to discourage such cooperation in the future. And if now the military action taken by our government hereafter is to involve individual commanders in a sort of allegiance to the party in power, the way will be opened for the development of a partisan joint chiefs of staff and partisan appointments in the matter of command.

The strategy of the Democratic campaign leaves much to be desired if it is measured by the platform and the keynote speeches here. For nowhere is there any attempt to reconcile the basic differences that separate northern radicals from the southern conservatives. The cleavage has been widened despite the watered-down planks and resolutions. It may help Eisenhower get electoral votes from the south.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Chicago, July 22—The Democrats finally got bored with themselves after a week of polite and relatively harmonious restraint and blew a number of gaskets which sent old Alben Barkley and Senator Dick Russell, of Georgia, to the junkyard.

Barkley, the not unhappy butt of a crop of lewd convention humor having to do with his age, took himself out of the contest for the Democratic nomination with a resounding squawk against the union racketeers who have been haunting these conniptions and threatening all and sundry with nameless horrors on an assumption that they control a fictitious labor vote.

The CIO finally decided against the old Kentucky wool-hat on the ground that at 74, he was too far along to be of sufficient service to the cause of protected mayhem, extortion, sabotage and homicide. This was a tender subject with the Veep, the more so because he had put up with a great deal of low comedy and his young wife had been picked by the ladies of the fourth estate. These are plain, essential facts of life at this grand rally of the Party of Humanity and a commentary on the morals manners and taste of the crew which already has decided that its wars, larcenies and acts of treason and the ruddy personal scandals of the White House circle for 20 years are nothing to be ashamed of.

The old man had put himself over the jumps ever since his arrival in Chicago last Friday in an effort to belie his years and a professional political agent for one of his rivals put a rumor into circulation that, pretending not to need his specs, he had missed a step and fallen on his face. There was no outward mark of any such mishap, however, and Barkley's worst enemy could not honestly deny that he was rugged and spry and only slightly shrunken, in short, a lower-case Bernarr MacFadden.

On balance, however, the CIO's repudiation of a shameless stooge was no worse than he had every right to expect on the basis of his career. Barkley was a Roosevelt Dealer of deepest hue and had carried on under Truman with never an outward twitch to betray a pang of conscience. Now, as his reward for long, unrelieved debasement, a career in which he had helped the goons and ball-bat argumentarians of both of the great criminal bands to yellow-dog thousands of his old Kentucky neighbors, he was ditched by these cold-eyed ingrates with the cutting proviso that they loved him "dearly" but, frankly, thought he would either croak or sink into abject senility in four years.

Rarely in his political life had Barkley been charged with loyalty to any honorable principle, and his servility to the union rackets was by no means the least of these manifestations. He knew these things were rackets, he knew the A.F. of L. was absolutely crawling with crooks of all the coarser categories and he knew his party had been guilty of reviving slavery through the Wagner Act for the particular benefit of the CIO.

So he had been a full accomplice all these years, trading services for votes, and this denouement, though a mournful end to a sordid career, was, after all, only a routine falling out of partners in perfidy.

Russell himself thought he was still in the contest as late as Tuesday night but he had cut his own throat several days ago when he tried to seduce the racketeers

SHAPE OF THE FUTURE

The United States must stop thinking of itself as the richest nation in the world and start a program to conserve its natural resources, according to a scholarly, nonpartisan report lately compiled by the President's Special Materials Policy committee. It says there is no absolute shortage of raw materials in this country, but that the growing demand for the diminishing supply will increase their cost to a point where the nation's living standards and security will be jeopardized.

Assuming that our population and production will continue to grow during the next 23 years at the same rate as in the last quarter-century, the report concludes that our resources will be used up faster than they are now and that the cost of extracting them will rise sharply. Urging an end to America's waste of raw materials, it states that in the past coal mines have been abandoned before half the coal was extracted, and that enough natural gas is wasted in a year to supply 11,000,000 homes.

The end of America's economic isolation, permissible in the past when the nation's supply of raw materials exceeded its demand, is at hand. A wise America will seek a close economic and political integration of the free world, including areas such as Africa, so that industrial states can trade finished products for supplies of raw materials to the mutual benefit of participating nations.

TICKET MACHINE

Enforcement of traffic regulations is hampered in most places by motorists with influence who manage, somehow, to dispose of traffic tickets without paying fines. In New York City a new and expensive machine is in use which files tickets of traffic offenders, discloses whether the offender has committed previous infractions of the law and assigns the case to a judge for disposition. A violator is given a ticket by a policeman who retains a stub which when placed in the machine starts the motorist on his way to punishment.

Using influence to fix traffic tickets is indulged in by people who consider themselves citizens above reproach. But such "fixes" discourage honest policemen, grant power to politicians which they should not have and help to destroy impartiality before the law which is so important a part of our system.

The machine used in New York eliminates most possibilities for a fixed ticket. The process is too expensive for most communities. But some other method of enforcing laws with equal severity on all violators may be just as efficient. Surely ours is not a civilization where justice can be administered only through the use of a complicated machine.

NOT THE WAY TO IKE'S HEART

From Europe come reports, disquieting if true, that France is sliding away from her earlier enthusiasm for a European army and now favors a more nationalistic tie-up with England.

The cause for such an action would not be hard to see. France looks with increasing concern upon the continued resurgence of her ancient enemy, Germany, as a European power.

France realizes at the same time that the rise of Western Germany, at least, is due in some part to the United States, which has striven hard to get the Bonn Republic to take a strong place in the European army.

So, seeking some balance against the growing power of Germany, France reportedly is tending toward ties with England, which has stood firm in its position not to join a European army.

This shift in attitude on the part of the French, if such it can be called at this stage, comes at a strange time.

It might be thought that following General Eisenhower's nomination for the presidency, the prestige of that favorite American of the French would make itself felt in sentiment favoring Western European union, one of his favorite programs.

Certainly, if Eisenhower should be elected in November, Western Europe could expect to have an American chief of state as sympathetic to their problems as President Truman has been. And certainly France knows that the way to a man's heart is not by slighting his pet projects.

'These Days'

KEFAUVER'S HANDICAP

Should Estes Kefauver be nominated, the Republicans could make no issue of corruption because Kefauver has established that he is not only the enemy of corruption but has actually done something about it.

But what does that do to his defense of the Truman Administration? As the Republicans are now precluded from discussing the foreign policy what will there be to talk about, should Kefauver run? Perhaps the Republicans will fall back upon efficiency in government and the Hoover Commission Report.

On the matter of corruption in the Federal Government, under our Constitutional system, the President is responsible. He alone is charged with the administration of government. He appoints officials, sometimes with the consent of the Senate.

The London "Economist" put it this way in an interesting article on the subject. It says:

". . . The President bears a clear responsibility for the behaviour of those whom he has appointed to posts in the executive branch of the government. If an unduly large proportion of them turns out to be corrupt or to have permitted corruption among their subordinates, there is no difficulty about assigning the blame. It would be a far more complicated thing to try to demonstrate just who should be brought to judgment for corruption in, say, the Congress, or the ranks of what is imprecisely called 'business.' And the consequences of assaults on such alternative objectives might be much more unpleasant."

The answer to this was given by Herbert Hoover in his speech before the Republican Convention, when he said:

"The grandeur of a people comes from their moral and spiritual character. Today that grandeur is corroded by this intellectual dishonesty and corruption among public officials. The drip, drip, drip from dishonor in high places plays a part in the increasing of crime among the people."

Senator Kefauver could say that he abhors corruption wherever it appears and he has no ties either in Congress or with business. Thus, he could as a candidate reveal more than his report or his articles have yet told. He could keep the country regaled with the subject. And he could involve both Democrats and Republicans. He might even discuss the high cost of getting nominated.

It would seem to be a matter of practical party politics for the Democrats to avoid Kefauver. Whichever Democrat is nominated will have to formulate a campaign that will defeat General Eisenhower. The strategy has to be based on two propositions:

1. To puncture the general's personal popularity;

2. To create an issue that will leave Eisenhower without an issue.

Kefauver would do it with corruption: his friend, Paul Douglas, would do it with a competent discussion of the economics of this country and sound administration of government. The Republicans would have a difficult time attacking either of these men on their records.

But the real difficulty for the Democrats would be that whatever exposure came of it would condemn Truman, his subordinates, his cronies, perhaps some of the important business men of the country who found ways of improving their own situations by fixing officials. It would be a vital campaign and the Republicans would not even be in it.

That is why Kefauver is being opposed by the leaders of his own party. That is not the kind of campaign they want to wage. It is too dangerous for too many important people.

Should Kefauver find that he cannot get the nomination, he is likely to support Senator Paul Douglas.

Douglas is a most unusual character. I first knew him at Columbia University when we were both boys. He was then a theoretical Socialist, but a stickler for facts. A scholar, a stern New Englander with all of the Yankee's sense of thrift, he specialized in economics, in labor problems, in money.

He was then more handsome than he is today, but was always a leader among men, greatly admired by those who like to see a keen, precise mind at work.

During most of his life, Paul Douglas taught in a number of universities, reaching a professorship at the University of Chicago. In World War 2, at the age of 50 he enlisted as a private in the Marine Corps, seeing overseas service and being wounded at Okinawa. He served in the Marine Corps from 1942 to 1945, reaching the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Douglas could make a powerful adversary against the Republican candidate. But do the Democrats want a maverick?

SHOULD THE ELDERLY DO USEFUL WORK?

Now that so many men and women reach threescore and ten and seem to enjoy reasonably good health, whether they should do some form of useful work or do nothing but rest is put up to the physician by the individual himself or some member of his family. I have written before of how some industrial firms, some months before they pension off an employe, talk things over with him as to what he is going to do in his spare time. Some of these elderly folk have plans which they think will keep them healthy and happy while others have in mind only the great amount of leisure time they will have.

So important is this matter of watching the health of the elderly that the Journal of Gerontology is now being published in St. Louis. In this publication Dr. R. W. Kleemeier discusses programs of employment of residents in homes for the aged. To find whether such a work program benefits the individual, a survey was made of the activities and attitudes of residents of a fraternal home for the aged. Survey was made of men only chiefly because there were few women residents.

Of the men, 56 per cent were workers and 44 per cent non-workers. It has been estimated that to equal the part-time work of the residents in this institution would require more than 70 additional full-time employes on the staff.

That this working part-time is meaningful rather than just "made work" is shown by the list of jobs held by the residents: Cook, kitchen helper, dining room helper, yard man, janitor, watchman, hospital orderly, truck driver, farm hand, barber, shopkeeper, carpenter, joiner, painter, plumber, meat cutter, postman and practical nurse.

Participation in the work program is strongly encouraged but the individual can take his choice, to be a worker or a non-worker. While workers and non-workers receive money allowances, those for the workers are greater and vary with the kind of work.

What did the survey show?

The survey showed that (1) workers obtained higher scores than non-workers with the same degree of health, (2) workers carried higher scores in adjustment to life dealing with the areas of health, work, feelings of usefulness, and happiness.

Dr. Kleemeier concludes that useful part-time work promotes happiness and adjustment to life in the elderly.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Chicago—The favorite occupation of this convention is quoting President Truman as to who he is for. There are half a dozen cabinet members here, plus a score of senators, plus certain highly placed Democratic bosses, plus two White House observers.

Some of them actually have access to the White House by telephone. Most of them don't. But from many you can get a whispered version of who the President wants or whom he doesn't want.

The situation is almost identical with the Chicago convention of 1944 when Franklin Roosevelt was en route by train to the west coast, and when Bob Hannegan, Ed Flynn of the Bronx, Mayor Kelly of Chicago and other party bosses undertook to tell the delegates who they should nominate as vice president. That was the memorable occasion when Hannegan, then national chairman, produced a letter listing first Senator Harry Truman then Justice William O. Douglas as FDR's preference for V.P.

It was not until some years later that Grace Tully, FDR's personal secretary, told how that letter had been retyped at Hannegan's direction in order to put Truman's name ahead of Douglas's.

Truman on Candidates

Today the man who benefited by that switch of names is in the White House, with the power to influence, perhaps to pick, his successor. Here is a summary of how he seems to be reacting:

In regular staff meetings, the President has played his political cards close to his chest. Never has he disclosed his hand regarding a possible successor.

To a few extremely close advisers, however, he finally indicated that he would favor Averell Harriman, because of Harriman's 100 per cent support of the New-Fair Deal program. This was about two weeks before the convention.

When this word leaked out, however, Democratic Chairman Frank McKinney urged the President to reverse himself and take Vice President Alben Barkley instead. McKinney is reported to have warned that the party would be split wide open if anyone as controversial on the race question were nominated, and that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower could easily carry the south.

Several other southern Democrats whom the President trusts, made similar representations, and following this, Truman is reported to have given the word to McKinney that he could promote the vice president's candidacy.

Meanwhile, Mr. Truman still looks with favor on Harriman, also has no objection to Estes Kefauver, despite the fact that he has long been miffed at the Tennessee senator for the personal trouncing he gave the President in New Hampshire.

He is definitely thumbs down on Senators Robert S. Kerr and Richard B. Russell, however, and he has been miffed at Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois for being so aloof, though he still regards Stevenson as an excellent man.

That's about the way the President's variegated views have been expressed to intimates as the Democratic convention nears the voting stage.

Behind Russell's T.-H. Statement

Sen. Dick Russell's denial that John L. Lewis influenced him in making his statement for revision of the Taft-Hartley Act doesn't quite tell all the story.

What happened was that the Senator from Georgia had dinner with Chicago Boss Jake Arvey about ten days before the convention at which Dick put in a bid for Illinois' big bloc of delegates. Arvey, a diplomat, tried to let Russell down easily by explaining that his anti-labor record would be poison to the big-city wing of the party—especially his support of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Later Russell related this to his public relations adviser, David Charney, who also represents John L. Lewis. Lewis then concocted a statement, and slipped it to the Georgia senator through Charney. It may well be that Dick Russell didn't realize that it had come from Lewis, though he did have a luncheon with Lewis.

Note 1—In addition to the rage of Virginia delegates, Atlanta banker Freeman Strickland, treasurer of Russell's campaign, began burning up the wires to Chicago, told Dick that southern textile manufacturers were betrayed. Georgia's Gov. Herman Talmadge also raised Cain with Russell, was one of those who forced him to backtrack.

Note 2—Charney, one of the best public relations men in the business, was cross-examined by the Kefauver committee, because of alleged links with Frankie Costello. Kefauver probers found that he had never been the paid representative of Costello, though he had written favorable stories about him and was the applicant for the Copacabana Club's liquor license, a night spot established by some of Costello's friends from Saratoga.

Political observers consider it more than a coincidence that Charney should now be working for Sen. Russell as part of the stop-Kefauver campaign. Russell probably knew nothing about his background.

The Smoke Filled Rooms

Joe Leighton, Harriman's press chief, has tipped off Kefauver headquarters privately that Averell might be satisfied to be secretary of state, with Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. as vice president on a Kefauver ticket. . . . Chicago boss Jake Arvey has been passing out words to Illinois delegates to give the Veep a complimentary vote on the first ballot, then switch to Governor Stevenson in case of a draft-Stevenson boom. . . . Cong. William Dawson of Chicago, one of the only two Negroes in the House of Representatives, has received a steady stream of colored delegates from all over the country. He has been telling them to vote for anyone except Kefauver. (Some of the congressman's friends were in the Chicago numbers racket which Kefauver exposed).

An eight-year-old boy was parading in a political snake dance for Harriman. Asked why he was in favor of Harriman, he replied: "Youth is for Harriman." . . . Mrs. India Edwards has the unique distinction of being the only candidate not seeking the presidential nomination—she only wants to be vice president. . . . While every candidate wants Truman's support, Oscar Ewing's headquarters is the only one openly displaying pictures of the President.

Chicago Merry-Go-Round

A dead-ringer for Senator Kerr was walking around the Conrad Hilton lobby with a big Kefauver button on his lapel. He turned out to be Francis Robinson of Ashland, Nebr. He looked so much like Kerr that people stopped him. Once in Omaha he happened to go into Kerr's hotel and the desk gave him Kerr's keys. However, Robinson is 100 per cent for Kefauver.

Kefauver is renting the foyer in front of the main ballroom of the Hilton which Taft paid $1,000 a day for. The foyer costs Kefauver $100 a day.

Senator Kerr has the most garish headquarters, complete with a log cabin replica of his birthplace, free movies, which attract a motley group of nonvoting youngsters. Kerr also has a fancy juke box blaring out the tune "Oklahoma!"

Harriman has inquired of newsmen about the Kerr bribery stories. He seemed greatly interested.

Barkley, the not unhappy butt of a crop of lewd convention humor having to do with his age, took himself out of the contest for the Democratic nomination with a resounding squawk against the union racketeers who have been haunting these conniptions and threatening all and sundry with nameless horrors on an assumption that they control a fictitious labor vote.

The CIO finally decided against the old Kentucky wool-hat on the ground that at 74, he was too far along to be of sufficient service to the cause of protected mayhem, extortion, sabotage and homicide. This was a tender subject with the Veep, the more so because he had put up with a great deal of low comedy and his young wife had been picked by the ladies of the fourth estate. These are plain, essential facts of life at this grand rally of the Party of Humanity and a commentary on the morals manners and taste of the crew which already has decided that its wars, larcenies and acts of treason and the ruddy personal scandals of the White House circle for 20 years are nothing to be ashamed of.

The old man had put himself over the jumps ever since his arrival in Chicago last Friday in an effort to belie his years and a professional political agent for one of his rivals put a rumor into circulation that, pretending not to need his specs, he had missed a step and fallen on his face. There was no outward mark of any such mishap, however, and Barkley's worst enemy could not honestly deny that he was rugged and spry and only slightly shrunken, in short, a lower-case Bernarr MacFadden.

On balance, however, the CIO's repudiation of a shameless stooge was no worse than he had every right to expect on the basis of his career. Barkley was a Roosevelt Dealer of deepest hue and had carried on under Truman with never an outward twitch to betray a pang of conscience. Now, as his reward for long, unrelieved debasement, a career in which he had helped the goons and ball-bat argumentarians of both of the great criminal bands to yellow-dog thousands of his old Kentucky neighbors, he was ditched by these cold-eyed ingrates with the cutting proviso that they loved him "dearly" but, frankly, thought he would either croak or sink into abject senility in four years.

Rarely in his political life had Barkley been charged with loyalty to any honorable principle, and his servility to the union rackets was by no means the least of these manifestations. He knew these things were rackets, he knew the A.F. of L. was absolutely crawling with crooks of all the coarser categories and he knew his party had been guilty of reviving slavery through the Wagner Act for the particular benefit of the CIO.

So he had been a full accomplice all these years, trading services for votes, and this denouement, though a mournful end to a sordid career, was, after all, only a routine falling out of partners in perfidy.

Russell himself thought he was still in the contest as late as Tuesday night but he had cut his own throat several days ago when he tried to seduce the racketeers

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

July 24, 1932—The Church of the Ascension at West Park observed its 90th anniversary.

Alice Hopkins, of Stony Hollow, won a beauty contest at DeWitt Lake.

Miss Dorothy Schneider and Harold Van Vliet, both of St. Remy, were married.

Albert Baxter, 70, died at his Plattekill home.

Dr. L. E. Sanford, local health officer, reporting only three cases of measles here, said there was a statewide outbreak.

July 24, 1942—Dr. Arthur J. Pratt, garden specialist of Cornell University, told the local Kiwanis Club that Ulster county victory gardening was impressive.

Governor Lehman assigned Justice Riley H. Heath, of Ithaca, to conduct a special Supreme Court term at Newburgh to investigate finances of Local 17, Hod Carriers and Common Laborers Union.

The play, "Final Answer" by Llewellyn Miller, was given a try-out at the Woodstock Playhouse.

Jimmy Morgan, second baseman with the Newburgh Recreations, was fatally injured in a Beacon automobile accident.

Barkley Is . . .

child born of woman should be born under conditions making it easy for him to live in a normal, wholesome atmosphere, with a chance for education to prepare himself for the burdens and responsibilities of life.

"The administrations of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman have given the American people a greater share in the enjoyment of the fruit of their labor than any other administration in the history of the United States," he said.

Touches Foreign Policy

Barkley then turned to foreign policy. He reviewed the events between the two world wars, and the period that followed. He said Americans were drawn "unavoidably" into the two great conflicts.

The Republicans have called the Democrats "a war party" because there were Democratic presidents in office in 1917, 1941, and 1950 when American troops went to war.

Barkley beat the air with his fists and leaned forward, pressing against the shelf of the rostrum when he cried:

"When our Republicans say that under Democratic administrations there have been two great wars, I ask them to tell the American people what they would have done if they had been in power on December 7, 1941, when Pearl Harbor was attacked by the armies of Japan."

And he went on to say that American troops are in Korea today because "we pledged our word in San Francisco that as members of the United Nations we would come to the defense of any member nations under attack anywhere in the world."

Looks for More Birthdays

Then, the man they said was "too old" referred to his age. He said he spent his birthday last year in Korea.

"It was the best birthday I have ever had, but it is not the last one I will ever have by a number of years."

The hall rocked with laughter and cheering and applauding echoed and re-echoed, and for the first time, Barkley smiled. He knew the shaft had hit home.

His whole speech was a kind of keynote address. It listed what he called the achievements of the Democrats, and defended what many analysts believe may be the party's most vulnerable points—Korea, the United Nations, and foreign relations.

When it was over the demonstration was even greater than the one that preceded Barkley's speech.

His wife came to the rostrum, and then a parade of political figures, each of them fighting his way through the jam-packed aisles, hastening up to congratulate him, and share his moment.

Twice he left the rostrum, but they wouldn't let him go.

Finally, the gravel banged, the roar subsided, and a comparative quiet came.

The "Veep" stood for a moment at the back of the platform then he stepped back into the shadows.

Touchy Auto

Portland, Me. (AP)—Robert B. Farley, Jr. is only 2 but already he has his doubts about these modern autos. All Master Robert did recently was press a couple of gadgets and the family car jumped over the curbing and smacked a fence. The two gadgets were the ignition and the starter. The car was damaged a bit but Bobby wasn't.

Locomotive Heats Building

Marion, Ill. (AP) — Three men stoke a railroad locomotive's firebox around the clock but it isn't going anywhere. Allen Industries, which processes tarpaulins, leased the engine from Illinois Central Railroad. Its steam is piped into the Allen building for heating purposes.

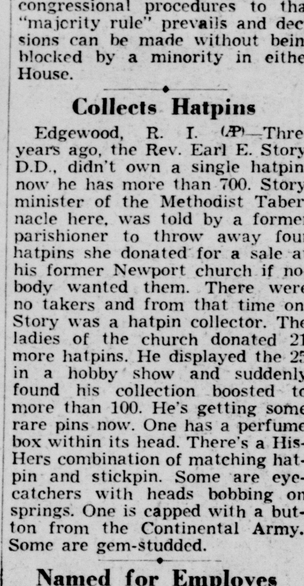
Collects Hatpins

Edgewood, R. I. (AP)—Three years ago, the Rev. Earl E. Story, D.D., didn't own a single hatpin; now he has more than 700. Story, minister of the Methodist Tabernacle here, was told by a former parishioner to throw away four hatpins she donated for a sale at his former Newport church if nobody wanted them. There were no takers and from that time on, Story was a hatpin collector. The ladies of the church donated 21 more hatpins. He displayed the 25 in a hobby show and suddenly found his collection boosted to more than 100. He's getting some rare pins now. One has a perfume box within its head. There's a His-Hers combination of matching hatpin and stickpin. Some are eye-catchers with heads bobbing on springs. One is capped with a button from the Continental Army. Some are gem-studded.

Named for Employes

New York (AP)—Instead of naming vessels after top company officials, one marine company (Freeport Sulphur Co.) operating in Louisiana is naming them after loyal workers, it has been reported here. So far 26 employes, ranging from drill crewmen to chief engineer, have been so honored by making the "floating honor roll." Most of the workers have been with the company at least 30 years.



COOL CLIMBER—High above the earth near El Segundo, Calif., a Douglas Skyrocket reaches dizzying heights in a hitherto unpublished photo. Test pilot Bill Bridgeman, 35, confirms reports that he has flown the new Navy ship 1238 mph at an altitude of 79,494 feet. Since its potential high speeds would melt the plane, it carries a refrigeration unit capable of cooling a large auditorium.

Lammot du Pont Dies in Hospital

New London, Conn., July 24 (AP)—Lammot duPont, 71, one of three brothers who led the development of the modern E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., Inc., from a small black powder factory 150 years ago to one of the great chemical companies of the world, died today at a hospital here.

DuPont had been ill for several weeks and had been taken to the hospital recently from his summer home on Fischer's Island, N. Y.

The youngest of three brothers who built up the mighty industrial domain, was president of the company for 14 years. He headed it from 1926 to 1940, succeeding his brothers, Pierre and Irenee in that position. From 1940 to 1948 he was chairman of the board. It was during that period the duPont Company was called upon to use its scientific skills in helping to make A-bombs and Lammot shared in many of the important decisions.

Vain Effort Is Made

Toronto, July 24 (AP)—Russia and Communist China today tried unsuccessfully to block consideration of West Germany's request for membership in the League of Red Cross Societies. It was the first clash between east and west of the 18th international Red Cross conference. The Communist countries delegates raised the point in the opening minutes of the first session of the executive committee of the league. They said the West German request had not been made in time.

Agreement Is Announced

New Delhi, India, July 24 (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told Parliament today the Indian government has agreed to grant disputed Kashmir a large measure of self government within the Indian union. American Yacht Wins

Plymouth, England, July 24 (AP)—The American yacht Caribee, owned by W. Carlton Mitchell of New York, finished first today in a 2,780 mile race from Bermuda. The Caribee's unofficial time was 21 days, three hours. The British yacht Marabu, manned by a navy crew, came in three hours and 52 minutes later. Still at sea today were two other British entries, the Samuel Pepys and the Joliette, and the French sloop Janabel.

According to his owner, Pete is housebroken and never leaves the premises.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 24 (AP)—The White House conference aimed at settlement of the steel strike drummed up buying enthusiasm in the stock market today and sent prices ahead sharply. Gains ran from major fractions to between 1 and 2 points with the rails, steels, and automobiles leading the way ahead.

The pace of trading was well over the million-share mark, making the fourth straight day of rising prices with expanding volume. And that is regarded as bullish.

Every section of the market was ahead moderately with the three principal groups well out in front.

The railroads have been hard hit by loss of freight traffic during the steel strike, and automobile plants have had to shut down because of steel shortages. Both groups of course would be major beneficiaries of a strike settlement.

There were plenty of other features in the market. Principal one was the rush ahead of Missouri Pacific preferred and the Alleghany issues as a result of the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission to take another look at the Missouri Pacific Railroad reorganization plan. Re-examination of the road was recommended because of increased earnings. Alleghany holds 51 per cent of MOPAC common.

MOPAC preferred was up between 3 and 4 points while Alleghany preferred jumped up between 5 and 6 points and Alleghany common advanced fractionally.

KEEPING A COOL HEAD, TOO—Sun-glassed Hein De Bruin, in Amsterdam, Holland, does his best to become a shady character as he lolls in water up to his chin, under a parasol. High temperatures roasted most European cities the first days in July.

Lammot du Pont Dies in Hospital

New London, Conn., July 24 (AP)—Lammot duPont, 71, one of three brothers who led the development of the modern E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., Inc., from a small black powder factory 150 years ago to one of the great chemical companies of the world, died today at a hospital here.

DuPont had been ill for several weeks and had been taken to the hospital recently from his summer home on Fischer's Island, N. Y.

The youngest of three brothers who built up the mighty industrial domain, was president of the company for 14 years. He headed it from 1926 to 1940, succeeding his brothers, Pierre and Irenee in that position. From 1940 to 1948 he was chairman of the board. It was during that period the duPont Company was called upon to use its scientific skills in helping to make A-bombs and Lammot shared in many of the important decisions.

New York Gets Relief

New York, July 24 (AP)—Some relief from the 13-day heat wave was promised for today in the New York metropolitan, and the weather bureau predicted an end of the sustained hot spell tomorrow. Yesterday was the hottest July 23 in the 81-year history of the local weather bureau, with the temperature going to 93 at 2 p. m. (EST). The previous high for the date was 91.7 set in 1918. The bureau predicted fair today with a high 85 to 90 but not so humid; and much cooler tonight, with a low around 66 in the city and near 60 in the suburbs.

Egypt Is Quiet

Cairo, Egypt, July 24 (AP)—This Egyptian capital awoke to peace and quiet today following a lightning army coup that brought former Premier Aly Maher Pasha back to head the government of this long-troubled Mid-East land. The premier-designate hurried to Alexandria, Egypt's summer capital, to present his new cabinet to King Farouk. It was the nation's sixth government since January.

Vain Effort Is Made

Toronto, July 24 (AP)—Russia and Communist China today tried unsuccessfully to block consideration of West Germany's request for membership in the League of Red Cross Societies. It was the first clash between east and west of the 18th international Red Cross conference. The Communist countries delegates raised the point in the opening minutes of the first session of the executive committee of the league. They said the West German request had not been made in time.

Agreement Is Announced

New Delhi, India, July 24 (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told Parliament today the Indian government has agreed to grant disputed Kashmir a large measure of self government within the Indian union. Reporting on his week-long talks here with Kashmir Premier Sheik Mohammed Abdullah and members of his government, Nehru said "Kashmir's accession to the Indian government is complete in law and fact—it is a part of India."

American Yacht Wins

'GATOR GETS BIGGER EVERY YEAR—Peter, four-foot five-inch pet alligator living in St. Petersburg, Fla., seems to be checking his growth-chart kept by his 'gator-lovin' owner (name withheld by request). Six inches long when he came to live in urban surroundings, the would-be "lounge lizard" adds 11½ inches to his length each year. According to his owner, Pete is housebroken and never leaves the premises.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 24 (AP)—The White House conference aimed at settlement of the steel strike drummed up buying enthusiasm in the stock market today and sent prices ahead sharply. Gains ran from major fractions to between 1 and 2 points with the rails, steels, and automobiles leading the way ahead.

The pace of trading was well over the million-share mark, making the fourth straight day of rising prices with expanding volume. And that is regarded as bullish.

Every section of the market was ahead moderately with the three principal groups well out in front.

The railroads have been hard hit by loss of freight traffic during the steel strike, and automobile plants have had to shut down because of steel shortages. Both groups of course would be major beneficiaries of a strike settlement.

There were plenty of other features in the market. Principal one was the rush ahead of Missouri Pacific preferred and the Alleghany issues as a result of the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission to take another look at the Missouri Pacific Railroad reorganization plan. Re-examination of the road was recommended because of increased earnings. Alleghany holds 51 per cent of MOPAC common.

MOPAC preferred was up between 3 and 4 points while Alleghany preferred jumped up between 5 and 6 points and Alleghany common advanced fractionally.

He'll Be 'Albatross'

Middletown, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—A Republican congresswoman said last night that whoever the Democrats nominate for president will have to run on President Truman's record and "what an albatross around his neck that will be." Mrs. Katharine St. George, of Tuxedo, seeking reelection to a fourth term in the House, spoke at a picnic of the Federation of Women's Clubs of Orange County. She predicted the Democratic ticket would be headed by Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and that Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia would be chosen as his running mate to hold the South in the Democratic fold.

Stevenson Endorsed

Chicago, July 24 (AP)—The Affiliated Young Democrats of New York today endorsed Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination. President Harold R. General Artist in Two Departments

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican presidential nominee, relaxes with cooking and painting—when he isn't fishing—at his mountain vacation retreat near Fraser, Colo. At left he cooks a breakfast of flapjacks and bacon for three GOP leaders who made the 72-mile trip from Denver to consult with him on the coming campaign. At right he does some paintings, six of which, he showed reporters, he has completed since starting his vacation. (AP Wirephoto)

THE CAPTAIN HAS A GREEN THUMB—Many a sea-faring man has dreamed of his own little plot of ground where he can garden to heart's content—but Capt. J. Traynor, master of the British ship Stirling Castle, made the dream come true. And right on board his ship, too. At left, above, he tends his garden, located in an annex to his shipboard quarters. At right, he practices his other hobby—painting—as he works on an oil sketch of ships in Southhampton harbor. One of his seascapes hangs in the Merchant Navy Officers' Club at Durban, South Africa.

Their Votes Pledged

Chicago, July 24 (AP)—For Connecticut's delegates, today was Sen. Brien McMahon Day at the Democratic convention. Their 16 votes are pledged to their home state senator. Party leaders and McMahon's aides said his name definitely will be placed in nomination by his Connecticut colleague, Sen. William Benton. That was their answer to reports that McMahon might release the delegation even before the first ballot so it can swing to Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

Anti-Qavam Demonstrators in Tehran

Demonstrators against the appointment of Ahmed Qavam as Premier of Iran carry off one of their wounded during riots in Tehran July 21. The riots swept Qavam from his briefly-held office and reinstated Mohammed Mossadegh as Prime Minister. On July 23 in Tehran a frenzied mob of 50,000 shouted anew for the death of Qavam and anti-American feeling rose from growing belief that the United States had supported Qavam whose announced intention to seek a settlement with Britain had caused the rioting. Virgil Smith Body Is Found in Creek

The body of Virgil Smith, 61, was seen floating in a muddy arm of the Esopus creek this morning by two Saugerties men, William Mullen and Chester Teetsel, while they were fishing a mile and a half from the Gippert Dairy Farm, Mt. Marion, where he had been employed.

A search for Smith was started Monday, and the police prepared to grapple for the body, when bloodhounds of Cornelius Boland, New Paltz, failed to pick up a trail Wednesday. Trooper Devine was about to start dragging the creek when the fishermen reported seeing the corpse in the water.

Coroner Michael A. Galietta of Glasco withheld his official verdict on the cause of death until Dr. Herbert Derman of the Kingston City Laboratory finished an autopsy. State police were of the opinion that there was no foul play.

Smith, who has a brother living in Saugerties, was highly regarded there and in Mt. Marion, and residents of both areas were deeply concerned when he was reported missing Monday.

The body was removed to the Seamon Brothers undertaking parlors in Saugerties.

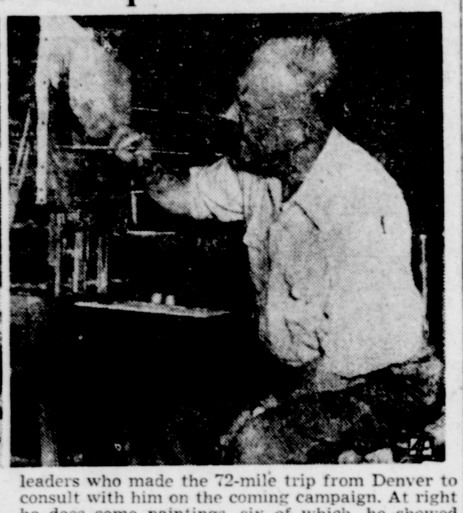
Part of 22-Minute Parade for Kefauver

Here's an overhead view during 22-minute demonstration for Sen. Estes Kefauver (arrow) after he walked into the Democratic national convention during a discussion of rules. (AP Wirephoto).

General Artist in Two Departments



Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican presidential nominee, relaxes with cooking and painting—when he isn't fishing—at his mountain vacation retreat near Fraser, Colo. At left he cooks a breakfast of flapjacks and bacon for three GOP leaders who made the 72-mile trip from Denver to consult with him on the coming campaign. At right he shows reporters, he has completed since starting his vacation. (AP Wirephoto)

THE CAPTAIN HAS A GREEN THUMB—Many a sea-faring man has dreamed of his own little plot of ground where he can garden to heart's content—but Capt. J. Traynor, master of the British ship Stirling Castle, made the dream come true. And right on board his ship, too. At left, above, he tends his garden, located in an annex to his shipboard quarters. At right, he practices his other hobby—painting—as he works on an oil sketch of ships in Southhampton harbor. One of his seascapes hangs in the Merchant Navy Officers' Club at Durban, South Africa.

Their Votes Pledged

Chicago, July 24 (AP)—For Connecticut's delegates, today was Sen. Brien McMahon Day at the Democratic convention. Their 16 votes are pledged to their home state senator. Party leaders and McMahon's aides said his name definitely will be placed in nomination by his Connecticut colleague, Sen. William Benton. That was their answer to reports that McMahon might release the delegation even before the first ballot so it can swing to Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

Births

The city registrar recently recorded the following births:

July 13—Nelene Ann to Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Stephen Donovan, 47 Abeel street.

July 15—Rocco Philip to Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Barbetta, Saugerties and Paul Jeffry to Mr. and Mrs. Paul VanGaasbeck, 58 Gill street.

July 17—Peter John to Mr. and Mrs. John Townsend Howland, Glenford; Stephen John to Mr. and Mrs. John J. Naccarato, 60 West Chestnut street; Philomena Anna to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ascienzo, Glasco, and Susan Elizabeth to Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bruns, 18 Joys's Lane.

July 18 — Diane Katherine to Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Polacco, 108 West Pierpont street; Russell Grant to Mr. and Mrs. William David Brinnier, Saugerties; James Leo to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Francis Murphy, 22 Clinton avenue; Terry Laurel to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Swart, Saugerties; Eli to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Camhi, 179 Henry street, and Richard Paul to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Robert Brueckner, town of Ulster.

July 19 — Gary Wayne to Mr and Mrs. Charles T. McGinnis, Jr. 25 Snyder avenue, and Joan Henry to Mr. and Mrs. John Henry deOlde, 59 South Wall street.

Anti-Qavam Demonstrators in Tehran

Demonstrators against the appointment of Ahmed Qavam as Premier of Iran carry off one of their wounded during riots in Tehran July 21. The riots swept Qavam from his briefly-held office and reinstated Mohammed Mossadegh as Prime Minister. On July 23 in Tehran a frenzied mob of 50,000 shouted anew for the death of Qavam and anti-American feeling rose from growing belief that the United States had supported Qavam whose announced intention to seek a settlement with Britain had caused the rioting. Virgil Smith Body Is Found in Creek

The body of Virgil Smith, 61, was seen floating in a muddy arm of the Esopus creek this morning by two Saugerties men, William Mullen and Chester Teetsel, while they were fishing a mile and a half from the Gippert Dairy Farm, Mt. Marion, where he had been employed.

A search for Smith was started Monday, and the police prepared to grapple for the body, when bloodhounds of Cornelius Boland, New Paltz, failed to pick up a trail Wednesday. Trooper Devine was about to start dragging the creek when the fishermen reported seeing the corpse in the water.

Coroner Michael A. Galietta of Glasco withheld his official verdict on the cause of death until Dr. Herbert Derman of the Kingston City Laboratory finished an autopsy. State police were of the opinion that there was no foul play.

Smith, who has a brother living in Saugerties, was highly regarded there and in Mt. Marion, and residents of both areas were deeply concerned when he was reported missing Monday.

The body was removed to the Seamon Brothers undertaking parlors in Saugerties.

Book Sales Lag

Milan (AP) — Italians buy less than one book per capita each year. Italian book publishers announced some 37 million books were sold last year to more than 47 million Italians. Those in the Lombardy region are the most avid readers, they said.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Hot weather often brings back memories. When I was in my early teens, going swimming at Kingston Point Beach was something. It meant taking a whole bathing suit outfit, which meant, black stockings, bathing shoes of canvas which were up to one's ankles and had good rubber soles so the sharp stones and clam shells would not cut you. We also wore bathing caps of the shirred variety, like an old fashioned dusting cap. It took time to get dressed and undressed for the beach in those days. That was before the days of zippers and one piece affairs. We didn't go in for tanning our skin either, My grandmother always warned me against the direct rays of the sun. In those days they felt that burning by the sun had something to do with cancer. In fact she and my father both insisted I go bathing after three or four o'clock after the sun had gone down.

I remember the bathing houses at the Point when the Altamari family had them. They were as convenient as could be with their separate compartments, little shelf in each room to sit on, and the home-made curtains. Then we had a big room with looking glass where we could fix our hair. Also outside we could stand under a shower to get the sand off. There was also a ringer for our wet bathing suits. What I always hated was a community dressing room, with cement floors and long benches, and metal lockers. If there is anything you want its privacy, instead of being herded into one big room. Of course down at the Beach, there were always little children who lost "Mama" and would go down the long corridor of closed curtains and the little ones would peek in back of each curtain and cry out "Mama?" They were very disappointed if you weren't their "Mama."

Those were the days before home permanents or I think most any other kind of permanents. Many girls had long hair and would sit out on the sand until it dried. Sand goes so much with outdoor bathing that one can never have enough of it. The little ones build things right near the water's edge and are usually very busy and safe with their little pails and shovels. The grown-ups are in little huddles etiher covering each other with sand or just talking. Some just bury their toes in it and are happy. Of course, tons and tons of sand are needed for such a beach.

Remember the swells from the Dayline Boats of which we would all like to take advantage by diving in the water. The one and only float quite a distance out, during high tide was a very important part of our Kingston Point Beach. Low and high tides meant a lot to us too, for during low tide there just didn't seem any water down there. When the tide was flood only good swimmers like Helen Mann could make the float. During a sweltering day, when all of Kingston was cooking, the beach was always cool and refreshing. It was so big. I have been at other beaches since and somehow the modern, cement, streamlined affairs never seem quite like my old swimming hole, Kingston Point Beach. And the Altamari family who ran it were fine hosts.

The 351,000 bituminous coal miners in the United States produced 512 million tons of coal in 1950.

Overbaugh Is Arrested

Walter G. Overbaugh, 40, Saugerties, was arrested by state police Wednesday on a charge of assault, third degree, growing out of a family argument. Taken before Police Justice Ernest Schirmer of Saugerties a 30-day jail sentence was imposed. Further investigation by the troopers disclosed a .22 seven-shot revolver for which Overbaugh did not have a license. He was re-arrested on a charge of illegal possession and held for grand jury action on that charge.

Miles of Vehicles Outstrip Highways

Utica, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—New York state has "more miles of vehicles than miles of highway," the state motor vehicle commissioner says.

James R. MacDuff said yesterday that if placed bumper to bumper the vehicles licensed in the state would extend 14,676 miles, more than half way around the world. The state's total highway mileage is 13,757.

MacDuff addressed the 52nd annual conference of the New York State Association of Chiefs of Police.

He reported that the state's death rate per million miles dropped in 1950 and 1951 to 6.1 per cent. In former years the figure had been as high as 15 per cent, the commissioner reported.

As Pegler Sees It

with a condemnation of Taft-Hartley.

This earned him the contempt of his own following as well as the scorn of the CIO's political agents on the spot, who instinctively recalled Tom Dewey's indorsement of the Wagner Act in 1944 as a confirmed and permanent feature of our government. Never for an instant did Dewey's high though not always honest intelligence let him in for any such absurdity as that, and the unions gave him the foot in November not because they loathed him but because they had a more useful rascal in their service at the time whom they also held in contempt.

Russell's coterie of southern trinket-traders who wave the stars and bars and bawl in sweet magnolia measures against old satan's nefarious works in Washington, promptly closed around him to have their pitchers took, showing that they, too, were brisk, progressive fellows. But the CIO was not convinced by this mummery and so the A.D.A., or Americans for Democratic Action, hollered into the wind a report that Russell had decided to follow Barkley through the oubliette.

This brought a yowl from Russell, who suddenly discovered A.D.A. was a Socialist conspiracy trying to take over the Democratic party. He said Barkley's dying yelp had strengthened his candidacy by revealing the true nature of A.D.A. which had been loudly exposed in these and other pastorals throughout the last four years with never any word of agreement, to say nothing of any cooperation from any of these gasbags.

And, perhaps too late, for the young man had shown flashes of the genius of the greatest faker of them all, Russell took a weak, faltering swipe at Franklin Roosevelt, Jr., whose speech had wowed them Monday night.

Young Moosejaw, an oily mountebank with the old man's splendid contempt for popular intelligence and honor, was elected to Congress from a district in which he did not live on the private ticket of Dave Dubinsky's Liberal party, a department of the Garment Workers' Union. He defeated the regular Democratic nominee, a Jewish magistrate in a district almost altogether Jewish. He never rejoined the Democratic party but was qualified for this convention by resolution of a party committee during his absence in Europe.

But, now, without the slightest embarrassment and relying on his old man's estimate of people, junior bellowed out against those who might refuse to support the candidate of this convention, and thus by implication read Senator Russell out of the party.

Russell referred faintly to Roosevelt as one "who came into public life as the nominee of the American labor party," which was incorrect, for Dubinsky broke with the A.L.P. years ago in an ideological hair-split, and unimportant because nobody knew he meant junior.

It was not a happy conclave. Although they had just about settled on Adlai Stevenson, a political queer of indefinite lines, a cursory inspection of his form chart plainly ruled him out of consideration in the south. He had twice tried to cram through the Illinois legislature bills to force employers to hire persons whom they did not trust or whose presence would cause fights among the help, and he proved to have been an active worker in the A.D.A. Socialist movement for years.

The illusion that Stevenson was a little to the right of Truman was shattered by old facts and as his name rose in the swells of sound it was more and more certain that he was only very little to the right of Browder.

Having openly challenged A.D.A. at last, Russell may have done more than he knew, for this thing is now dominant in the Truman-Communist sector and very influential in Eisenhower's Socialist-Republican party. Politics are yeasting in both parties now and a third party is not unthinkable although there are at present no firm plans.

Dog Kills Terrorists

Kuala Lumpur, Malaya (AP)—Lucky, one of six Alsatian dogs used in jungle operations and station patrol work, has been given official credit for killing three Communist terrorists and capturing another two. His handler says Lucky is afraid of only two things—tigers and elephants. He won't cross the track of either. Although trained, maintained and operated by the RAF, the dogs are frequently loaned to the army for operations against Communist guerrillas in the jungles. Their main use is as an ambush precaution.

State police from the Kingston station investigated and reported Lutz had been despondent since the death of his wife and had been sent to Ulster county to recuperate. He inflicted the wounds with a butcher knife.

Strike Is Scheduled

New York, July 24 (AP)—An "organizational strike" is scheduled by the cloak joint board of the AFL International Ladies' Garment Workers Union against non-union shops, mostly in the midtown garment area, "some day next week." The announcement was made last night by Isadore Nagler, manager of the board, at a meeting of 1,200 shop chairmen and stewards. Nagler did not specify the day but told his hearers: "You won't have to wait too long." He declared it was the purpose of the 65,000-member board to "drive all the chiselers and open-shoppers from this metropolis."

Man Injured Badly

New York, July 24 (AP)—Paul Mack Whalen, 61, of 314 East 81st street, Manhattan, was critically injured last night when struck by an automobile at Park avenue and 75th street. He was taken to Roosevelt Hospital. Police said the automobile was driven by George Matso, 40, of Mount Vernon.

Dog's Vigil Goes On; No Body Is Found

Spring City, Mo., July 24 (AP)—Workman finally reached the bottom of an abandoned mine where a collie dog has kept a 25-day vigil and found nothing—except a small bone.

The animal had maintained a watch at the mouth of the shaft since last month, refusing to leave.

Residents of this southwest Missouri community speculated that the dog's owner might have tumbled into the mine. The dog is a stranger in the neighborhood.

Volunteers spent the past week pumping out the flooded mine. Thousands of persons visited the scene, curious over what might be found.

Last night miners Ted Hymer and Oscar Uber were lowered down the shaft. After a thorough search at the bottom of the pit, they reported they found nothing except the small bone.

That, however, didn't end the dog's strange watch. He was still at the scene today.

And how did he react to the bone, which, incidentally, wasn't a human bone?

Separated, They Say

New York, July 24 (AP)—Asbestos heir Tommy Manville and his ninth wife, Anita Roddy-Eben, have separated after 12 days of marriage. Strike Is Scheduled

New York, July 24 (AP)—An "organizational strike" is scheduled by the cloak joint board of the AFL International Ladies' Garment Workers Union against non-union shops, mostly in the midtown garment area, "some day next week." The announcement was made last night by Isadore Nagler, manager of the board, at a meeting of 1,200 shop chairmen and stewards. Nagler did not specify the day but told his hearers: "You won't have to wait too long." He declared it was the purpose of the 65,000-member board to "drive all the chiselers and open-shoppers from this metropolis."

Man Injured Badly

New York, July 24 (AP)—Paul Mack Whalen, 61, of 314 East 81st street, Manhattan, was critically injured last night when struck by an automobile at Park avenue and 75th street. He was taken to Roosevelt Hospital. Police said the automobile was driven by George Matso, 40, of Mount Vernon.

Dog's Vigil Goes On; No Body Is Found

Spring City, Mo., July 24 (AP)—Workman finally reached the bottom of an abandoned mine where a collie dog has kept a 25-day vigil and found nothing—except a small bone.

The animal had maintained a watch at the mouth of the shaft since last month, refusing to leave.

Residents of this southwest Missouri community speculated that the dog's owner might have tumbled into the mine. The dog is a stranger in the neighborhood.

Volunteers spent the past week pumping out the flooded mine. Thousands of persons visited the scene, curious over what might be found.

Last night miners Ted Hymer and Oscar Uber were lowered down the shaft. After a thorough search at the bottom of the pit, they reported they found nothing except the small bone.

That, however, didn't end the dog's strange watch. He was still at the scene today.

And how did he react to the bone, which, incidentally, wasn't a human bone?

Gets Jail Term

Hudson, July 24 (AP)—The engineer of a New York Central passenger train jerked on the air brakes early today at an emergency signal from the control tower here. A man was lying across the tracks. Later Jordan Brown, 41, of Bartlesville, Okla., told police: "I just got tired and thought it was time for me to go to sleep." A railroad worker had spotted Brown and notified the tower. City Judge Robert Meyers sentenced him to six months in Columbia county jail on a charge of trespassing.

E. E. Perkins Dies In Poughkeepsie

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—Edward E. Perkins, 89, who was credited with persuading the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt to enter politics, died last night at Vassar Hospital.

Perkins was chairman of the Dutchess County Democratic Commitee in 1910, when he was said to have induced Roosevelt to run for state senator. Roosevelt was elected to the State Senate in that year.

Thereafter, Perkins served as treasurer of the New York State Democratic Committee for 25 years.

He was a lawyer and financier, and was president of both the Star & Enterprise Publishing Co., and the Poughkeepsie Publishing Co., both forerunners of the present Poughkeepsie Newspapers, Inc.

He organized and built several railroads, including the Fort Worth & Rio Grande Railroad Co., in Texas; the West Dallas Railroad Co., in Texas, and the now defunct Poughkeepsie & Eastern Railroad in Dutchess county. He also was a former president of the American Savings Bank & Trust Co., in Fort Worth.

Survivors include a son, E. Reginald Perkins, who married Baroness Sifoa Rommel, of Warsaw, Poland, in 1943, and is manager of the American Export Lines in Rome, Italy; and three daughters, Mrs. Olive Elizabeth De'Amico Perkins, the former Marchesa Stefano De'Amico who was divorced from Marchese Stefano De'Amico, of Italy, in 1938; Princess Fabrizio Colonna, wife of Prince Fabrizio Colanna, of Rome, and Argenta Beard Perkins Penaherrera, wife of Louis A. Penaherrera, recent ambassador to the U. S. from Ecuador.

Funeral services will be held at Christ Episcopal Church, in Poughkeepsie, Saturday morning, with burial in the Poughkeepsie Rural Cemetery.

Placements at Record

New York, July 24 (AP)—Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi announced today that New York State Employment Service placements reached a record high last month, with almost 73,000 nonfarm jobs filled. He said demand for farm labor was moderate because the excessively dry weather cut expected crop yield.

Rayburn to Ask Three States for Roll Call Answers

Convention Hall, Chicago, July 24 (AP)—Chairman Sam Rayburn said today Louisiana, South Carolina and Virginia would be invited to answer the roll-call of states for nominating speeches at the Democratic national convention. That seemed to mean the three southern states which have refused to sign a loyalty pledge are back in good standing before the convention—at least so far as Rayburn is concerned.

Rayburn declined to discuss the matter except to say that if anyone challenges the right of the three states to participate in the nominating proceedings, he will make a ruling at that time. He refused to say what his ruling would be.

The three Dixie states have stood pat in their insistence that they cannot go along with a new convention rule adopted yesterday after a flareup of the old north-south conflict over civil rights.

However, members of Louisiana's delegation staged a bitter scrap among themselves today over whether to maintain the delegation's stand.

Newburgh Man Killed

Newburgh, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—Herbert Watkins, 49, of Newburgh was killed here last night by an automobile which police said failed to remain at the scene of an accident. Through a license number obtained by a witness police arrested Rudolph G. Bondur, 26, also of Newburgh and charged him with leaving the scene of an accident. Sgt. Howard Stanton said Bondur admitted his car struck Watkins but said that the man walked in front of the automobile. Police said a witness of the accident told them the car's driver stopped, looked at the victim and then sped away.

Consul General From South Africa Due for Pageant

Dr. Alfred H. Mertsch, consul general in New York from the Union of South Africa, will appear Saturday night at the historical pageant at the municipal stadium and participate in the program, it was disclosed today after a long distance call from New York.

Earlier this spring Howard A. Lewis, vice president of the Kelvinator Corporation, visited the Union of South Africa as a representative of the Kingston 300th Anniversary committee and participated in the 300th anniversary celebration there of the founding of the Union.

The visit of Dr. Mertsch on invitation of the 300th Anniversary Committee to Kingston on Saturday is in the nature of a "good will" return visit from the people of the Union of South Africa.

Dr. Mertsch will address the people of Kingston at the pageant at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening and speak on the common background of the two countries and the observance of the 300th anniversaries of his country and Kingston.

As guest of the Anniversary Committee over the weekend, Dr. Mertsch will be entertained by the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, chairman of the Religious Events Committee of the anniversary group.

Dr. Mertsch was born at Campbell Sape province, South Africa and is a graduate in science of the University of Stellenbosch, Capetown. He received his degree in political science from the University of Hamburgh. He taught for two years and entered government service in 1924. Since 1929 he has been in the foreign service of his country. His first position was that of assistant trade commissioner at Hamburgh, Germany, after which he returned to the Union of South Africa and was associated with the Trade Section of the Department of External Affairs. He has also served his government in Stockholm, Sweden and in May 1949 assumed the duties of consul general in New York.

Snake Bites Zoo Worker

New York, July 24 (AP)—A prairie rattlesnake at the Staten Island Zoo today bit the right hand of Carl Herrmann, about 20, a reptile keeper employed at the zoo. Herrmann, who lives at 221 East 12th street, Manhattan, was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, West Brighton, Staten Island, where his condition was reported "fair." Serum kept available for such emergencies by Carl F. Kauffeld, the zoo's curator of reptiles, was administered by Dr. Thomas J. Dunne at the hospital. Police rushed a further supply of serum to Staten Island from a New York pharmaceutical house. Hermann suffered two fang punctures in the palm of his right hand, near the little finger.

In 1910, a $50 automobile tire lasted only about 5,000 miles.

Returns Japanese Property

Yokohoma, Japan, (AP) — The U. S. Army is rapidly going out of business in this bustling port city. Maj. Gen. Walter L. Weible, commander of the Japan logistical command, has announced that by early summer the major portion of occupation-held property in downtown Yokohoma will have been returned to Japanese owners. He said that since Jan. 1 the army has released some 15 million square feet of land and more than 300,000 square feet of building space.

Placements at Record

New York, July 24 (AP)—Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi announced today that New York State Employment Service placements reached a record high last month, with almost 73,000 nonfarm jobs filled. He said demand for farm labor was moderate because the excessively dry weather cut expected crop yield.

Rayburn to Ask Three States for Roll Call Answers

Convention Hall, Chicago, July 24 (AP)—Chairman Sam Rayburn said today Louisiana, South Carolina and Virginia would be invited to answer the roll-call of states for nominating speeches at the Democratic national convention. That seemed to mean the three southern states which have refused to sign a loyalty pledge are back in good standing before the convention—at least so far as Rayburn is concerned.

Rayburn declined to discuss the matter except to say that if anyone challenges the right of the three states to participate in the nominating proceedings, he will make a ruling at that time. He refused to say what his ruling would be.

The three Dixie states have stood pat in their insistence that they cannot go along with a new convention rule adopted yesterday after a flareup of the old north-south conflict over civil rights.

However, members of Louisiana's delegation staged a bitter scrap among themselves today over whether to maintain the delegation's stand.

Newburgh Man Killed

Newburgh, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—Herbert Watkins, 49, of Newburgh was killed here last night by an automobile which police said failed to remain at the scene of an accident. Through a license number obtained by a witness police arrested Rudolph G. Bondur, 26, also of Newburgh and charged him with leaving the scene of an accident. Sgt. Howard Stanton said Bondur admitted his car struck Watkins but said that the man walked in front of the automobile. Police said a witness of the accident told them the car's driver stopped, looked at the victim and then sped away.

Consul General From South Africa Due for Pageant

Dr. Alfred H. Mertsch, consul general in New York from the Union of South Africa, will appear Saturday night at the historical pageant at the municipal stadium and participate in the program, it was disclosed today after a long distance call from New York.

Earlier this spring Howard A. Lewis, vice president of the Kelvinator Corporation, visited the Union of South Africa as a representative of the Kingston 300th Anniversary committee and participated in the 300th anniversary celebration there of the founding of the Union.

The visit of Dr. Mertsch on invitation of the 300th Anniversary Committee to Kingston on Saturday is in the nature of a "good will" return visit from the people of the Union of South Africa.

Dr. Mertsch will address the people of Kingston at the pageant at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening and speak on the common background of the two countries and the observance of the 300th anniversaries of his country and Kingston.

As guest of the Anniversary Committee over the weekend, Dr. Mertsch will be entertained by the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, chairman of the Religious Events Committee of the anniversary group.

Dr. Mertsch was born at Campbell Sape province, South Africa and is a graduate in science of the University of Stellenbosch, Capetown. He received his degree in political science from the University of Hamburgh. He taught for two years and entered government service in 1924. Since 1929 he has been in the foreign service of his country. His first position was that of assistant trade commissioner at Hamburgh, Germany, after which he returned to the Union of South Africa and was associated with the Trade Section of the Department of External Affairs. He has also served his government in Stockholm, Sweden and in May 1949 assumed the duties of consul general in New York.

Snake Bites Zoo Worker

New York, July 24 (AP)—A prairie rattlesnake at the Staten Island Zoo today bit the right hand of Carl Herrmann, about 20, a reptile keeper employed at the zoo. Herrmann, who lives at 221 East 12th street, Manhattan, was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, West Brighton, Staten Island, where his condition was reported "fair." Serum kept available for such emergencies by Carl F. Kauffeld, the zoo's curator of reptiles, was administered by Dr. Thomas J. Dunne at the hospital. Police rushed a further supply of serum to Staten Island from a New York pharmaceutical house. Hermann suffered two fang punctures in the palm of his right hand, near the little finger.

In 1910, a $50 automobile tire lasted only about 5,000 miles.

Returns Japanese Property

Yokohoma, Japan, (AP) — The U. S. Army is rapidly going out of business in this bustling port city. Maj. Gen. Walter L. Weible, commander of the Japan logistical command, has announced that by early summer the major portion of occupation-held property in downtown Yokohoma will have been returned to Japanese owners. He said that since Jan. 1 the army has released some 15 million square feet of land and more than 300,000 square feet of building space.

Man Piles Up 13 Driving Demerits

Jersey City, N. J., July 24 (AP)—The first person to lose his driving privileges under the state's "point system" for traffic violations is a 22-year-old Lyndhurst man who piled up the excess number of demerits within 10 minutes.

Under the plan, which went into effect July 1, motorists are given demerits for violations, the number varying with the seriousness of the offense. When a driver accumulates 12 demerits, he loses his license.

Last night Police Court Magistrate Michael F. Reilly revoked the license of Stephen Rokoszak. His three offenses—reckless driving, speeding, and disregarding the signal of a police officer—netted him 13 points, one above the limit allowed over a three-year period.

Rokoszak, who was found guilty and fined a total of $85, violated the traffic laws on July 4, the magistrate said.

The breakdown of his fines and demerits:

Reckless driving, six points, $55; speeding, four points, $25; disregarding signal of police officer, three points; $5.

Two Are Honored

Moscow, July 24 (AP)—The Soviet Union's naval minister, Adm. Nikolai Kuznetsov, and Vladimir Klinov, a designer of airplane engines, were honored today with the Order of Lenin. The high awards were conferred on their birthdays, Kuznetsov's 50th and Klinov's 60th.

What should you do third hand, with ace-jack-ten of a suit over dummy's king-x-x? It is usually wise to finesse the ten, but circumstances certainly do alter cases.

In today's hand East made the mistake of finessing the ten of clubs at the first trick. He lived to regret it.

Declarer won with the queen of clubs, drew trumps with the ace and king, and then led his singleton diamond towards dummy.

West made the fine play of a low diamond, and dummy won with the king. South ruffed a diamond high and led a spade towards the dummy. When West played low, dummy ducked also, and East won with the jack. East could cash the ace of spades, but then had to return his last diamond.

Instead of ruffing, South threw his last spade. West had to take the ace of diamonds, and could then do nothing to defeat the contract. When West tried to cash the king of spades, South ruffed and entered dummy with a trump in order to take a discard on the queen of diamonds. Declarer therefore succeeded in making six trump tricks, two diamonds, and a club.

East should have realized that his partner's energetic bidding of both spades and diamonds with very weak suits could only mean that he had a singleton club, for with a doubleton club West would have been content to pass three clubs. If East had taken the ace of clubs at the first trick and returned the jack of clubs, the defenders could have taken the first seven tricks and declarer could have been set three.

So He's Fined $25

New York, July 24 (AP)—Mrs. Ray Finkelstein yesterday put the legal heat on landlord Max Berman for keeping her apartment radiators as hot as the current heat wave. Last winter, Berman was fined $5 for not giving his tenant enough heat. This time, in Coney Island magistrate's court, the fine was $25.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Retail food markets were showing the effects of the long heat wave this week.

The quality and condition of several vegetables—corn, tomatoes, cauliflower and cucumbers particularly — were generally poorer. Top grade fresh produce was at a premium, and bringing premium prices. Most fruits were in brisk demand and this strengthened prices.

Some items, like snap beans, were maturing and being harvested earlier than usual, which means supplies will tighten later during their normal shipment periods.

Hot weather also led many consumers to steer away from the bigger meat cuts which need long cooking. Beef rib roasts, for example, were plentiful and were being offered at special reduced prices in many areas. So were fowl and turkeys and pot roasts. Meat dealers said lower production would have brought higher prices for pork if consumption had not dropped so much because of the heat.

Eggs Tip Down

Top grade eggs tipped downward in many stores, reflecting consumer resistance to high prices after weeks of advancing. Dealers were turning to the cheaper storage eggs and more housewives were buying medium and smaller sizes. Supplies of pullet and peewee sizes were slowly increasing.

Butter prices held unchanged. Wholesale butter trading was reported dull, with only speculators active—buying butter for storage and hoping to profit by higher prices later.

Pear prices dropped sharply with the arrival of heavy shipments of Bartletts from California. Plums, lemons and watermelons also were lower this week in most places, while cherries, apricots, grapes and canteloupes worked up a little higher.

Peaches Are Due

The Agriculture Department said that big supplies of Elbertas and other popular varieties of peaches were expected to reach market in the next two weeks after some set-backs because of weather conditions in important southern producing areas. So far, supplies have been restricted largely to early varieties. Nationally, peach production this year was forecast at 68 million bushels, or 7 per cent larger than last year.

Blueberries were still abundant and in the good buy class in most places, and blackberries were beginning to show up here and there.

Tomatoes were plentiful and cheaper, but much of the supply was of only poor to fair quality. Beans, cabbage and peas cost a little more this week. Corn was low but of irregular quality. Squash and onions were described as bargain vegetables.

Weekend Specials

These foods were prominently mentioned on the lists of weekend specials by major store chains and independent markets: Beef rib roasts, chuck steaks, smoked beef tongues, smoked picnic hams, turkeys, fowl, pears, peaches, honeydew mellons, lettuce, corn, cucumbers and several varieties of fresh and frozen fish.

Increasing concern was expressed this week by the canning industry over the shortage of steel for cans. In California, where perishable fruits and vegetables are close to the harvest season, six farm groups urged that strikebound tinplate mills be reopened temporarily to turn out the urgently-needed steel. The groups said a continued tinplate shortage would affect half the nation's canned fruit and 20 per cent of the canned vegetable supply—and mean loss of work for 180,000 canning and field workers.

Schedule Announced For Park Dances by Recreation Group

A schedule of dances to be held in the city parks during the summer months has been announced by the recreation department.

The dances are under the joint sponsorship of the recreation department and Local 215 of the American Federation of Musicians, through a grant from the Music Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industry.

Dates, locations and orchestras were planned at a recent meeting attended by Peter Ferraro, local transcription fund chairman, Andy Murphy 3d and Harry L. Edson of the recreation department.

The opening dance was held Monday evening on the tennis court in Forsyth Park.

Proposed dances are scheduled as follows:

Monday, Aug. 4—Block Park—Ole Christensen and orchestra.

Monday, Aug. 18—Hutton Park—Louis Arace and orchestra.

Wednesday, Aug. 20—Forsyth Park—Johnny Michaels and orchestra.

The date for the dance to be held on the street adjacent to Cornell Park will be announced later. In selecting August 20 for the dance on the tennis court at Forsyth Park, which will coincide with the Ulster County Fair, the musicians believed it to be an opportunity for residents of the entire county to enjoy the music.

AN UNNECESSARY REDUCTION

A worried aunt writes: "I have always remembered my nieces and nephews with a present on their birthdays. However, each year the number increases and it seems that hardly a month goes by now without my having to buy a present. Much as I would like to continue this practice, I find it becoming a burden in view of my other expenses. Will you please tell me how I can put an end to this practice without causing hurt feelings?"

The obvious answer is that you will have to reduce the value of each present, in order to stay within the total amount that you can afford.

Whatever You Think Best

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiance and I had a joint bank account to which we both contributed toward furnishing our future home. However, my fiance was killed in Korea several weeks ago and I would like to know what to do about this money? Should I keep it all, or should I return his share to his parents?

Answer: The money is yours to do with what you think best and what will give you the greatest comfort.

Beloved Stepmother

Dear Mrs. Post: We love my fiance's stepmother. He calls her by a nickname which I have adopted. We introduce her as John's father's wife because we know the term stepmother is not flattering. In the newspaper notices of our engagement and coming marriage, what recognition can be given her and how? (My fiance's own mother is not living.)

Answer: According to the circumstances which you describe, your fiance can be called the son of "Mr. and Mrs. John Jones" only if his real mother's family will not be greatly hurt by the slighting of her name. (The usual announcement would be the son of Mr. John Jones and the late Mrs. Jones.)

Are you planning to give a simple shower for a friend or bride-to-be? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Schedule Announced For Park Dances by Recreation Group

A schedule of dances to be held in the city parks during the summer months has been announced by the recreation department.

The dances are under the joint sponsorship of the recreation department and Local 215 of the American Federation of Musicians, through a grant from the Music Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industry.

Dates, locations and orchestras were planned at a recent meeting attended by Peter Ferraro, local transcription fund chairman, Andy Murphy 3d and Harry L. Edson of the recreation department.

The opening dance was held Monday evening on the tennis court in Forsyth Park.

Proposed dances are scheduled as follows:

Monday, Aug. 4—Block Park—Ole Christensen and orchestra.

Monday, Aug. 18—Hutton Park—Louis Arace and orchestra.

Wednesday, Aug. 20—Forsyth Park—Johnny Michaels and orchestra.

The date for the dance to be held on the street adjacent to Cornell Park will be announced later. In selecting August 20 for the dance on the tennis court at Forsyth Park, which will coincide with the Ulster County Fair, the musicians believed it to be an opportunity for residents of the entire county to enjoy the music.

Paradise, Ill., (AP)—In this southern Illinois community called Paradise there's a project known as "Lord's Acres." The Paradise Baptist Church members this spring manned 20 tractors and in about two hours plowed, smoothed and fertilized 40 acres for corn planting. All was given freely. Instruct Indonesians

Bandung, West Java (AP)—Americans and Hollanders are teaching young Indonesians the tricks of modern warfare. Officers and men of the Netherlands Military Mission in Indonesia work on the Indonesian army while a group of 14 American civilian flight instructors train the fledgling Indonesian air force. About 100 cadets have become qualified military pilots since the American instructors started their work in February 1951. The Americans teach the men how to handle such U.S.-made products as the Piper Cub, the Harvard trainer and finally the B-25 bomber and Mustang fighter.

McCarthy Has Operation

Washington, July 24 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wisc.) today underwent a major stomach operation which his doctors said would keep him from taking any active part in his campaign for renomination. The senator's office said the operation was performed at 7:30 a. m. (EST) today at the U. S. Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Md., where he had been recuperating from minor sinus surgery. Millman Reports Gallery Schedule

Woodstock, July 24—The summer schedule of Friday night gallery evenings was announced by Edward Millman, chairman of the extension committee, at the second general meeting of the season of the Woodstock Artists Association Wednesday night.

Julio De Diego will speak on Contemporary European Painting, Friday, July 25. On Friday, August 1, there will be a panel discussion entitled The Artist and The Layman, with Millman as moderator, to be followed on August 8 by a talk on Kandinsky by Paul Burlin. An art students panel composed of students and young artists, is planned for Friday, August 15, prior to the discussion preceeding the one day art conference, Friday, August 22, when Dr. George Boas, professor of Philosophy at Johns Hopkins, will speak on "Aesthetics and the Artist."

The final evening will be devoted to a concert by John Cage, Tudor and Feldman, whose unusual percussion instruments have aroused much interest in the New York musical world. Their concert will be a repeat of the one given in New York last spring.

Norbert Heermann, reporting on the work of the sales committee, proposed a plan which would require the assistance of an artist one afternoon a week at the gallery to receive and talk to out-of-town guests. He also introduced various ideas for extending interest in the work of Woodstock artists to other nearby cities. He believes that much could be done in circulating pictures within a radius of 100 miles of this village.

Yasuo Kuniyoshi announced that instead of a memorial show at the gallery this summer that as the wind-up of the summer season there would be a one-man show of work by Judson Smith, who will speak at the gallery in connection with the show.

The next exhibition at the Art Gallery will be a show of Small Things, a group show which will open with a reception at the gallery Saturday afternoon, it was announced by Daniel Revzan, chairman of the picture committee.

Reports were given by Doris Lee, secretary; Mrs. Philip Fitz-Patrick, membership, and Arthur Zaidenberg, who said that sales of Art of the Artist, the volume containing works by Woodstock artists, were going nicely.

Ralph Wickiser, president, who presided at the meeting, announced that the next general meeting would be held Wednesday, August 13.

Library Fair to Offer Special Art Section

Woodstock, July 24—One of the aspects of the annual Library Fair, which will take place Thursday, July 31, from 1 to 6 p. m., is a distinctly Woodstock feature—the art book and art periodical section.

With the large number of art classes in session in the village during the summer season, students as well as artists of established reputation, each year converge upon the book table in search of reference material and books to enlarge their respective art libraries.

Mrs. Sidney Berkowitz and Mrs. Carl Eric Lindin, co-chairmen of the art book committee, have made an urgent appeal for contributions of art books, art magazines and any other periodicals, for sale at the library fair. Any artist or art lover who has, in his own collection, books and magazines which might help some other young artist or possible art connoisseur along the way, is requested to bring contributions to the library any day up to the day of the fair.

Mrs. Berkowitz and Mrs. Lindin are assisted by Mrs. Lawrence Marcus and Miss Lois Wilcox, who will serve at the art book table.

To Run Special Buses

Woodstock, July 24—It has been announced that every Tuesday evening during the summer, the Pine Hill Kingston Bus Corporation will run a bus from the Broadway Terminal, leaving at 7:50, and from the Crown street Bus Terminal at 8 p. m., to the Woodstock Playhouse. The bus will return passengers to Kingston after the show at the Playhouse. A reduced round-trip rate will be offered.

Village Notes

Woodstock, July 24 — A stork shower was given last Friday night by Mrs. Shirley Gentile in honor of Mrs. Eugene Snyder at the home of Mrs. Clarence Snyder. The guests included Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, Mrs. Fred Tripicco, Mrs. George Hartt, Mrs. Helen Hastie, Miss Priscilla Hastie, Mrs. Walter Van Wagenen, Mrs. Frank Costa, Mrs. Allan Styles, Mrs. William Murphy, Mrs. Joseph Holdridge. Jr., Mrs. Joseph Hilton, Mrs. Arthur DiNapoli, Mrs. Andre Neher, Miss Nancy Wilson, Miss Sue Fox and Mrs. Benjamin Osipow.

Mr. and Mrs. Henny Youngman and family attended the opening of the Woodstock Playhouse show, Jenny Kissed Me, Tuesday night.

Rare Film to Be Shown At Gallery July 26-27

Woodstock, July 24—Seldom-seen Indian ceremonials, rare dance shots of Martha Graham, Josephine Baker, Charlie Chaplin, and even of the original Little Egypt will be shown Saturday and Sunday at the Art Gallery when the Cinema Club presents Fifty Years of the Dance on Film, the final offering in its art film series.

Motion pictures of the most brilliant dancers in the classical Russian ballet will also be shown on the program which has been selected from the D. D. Livingston dance film collection, largest in the world. Livingston will lecture.

One of the highlights of the program will be the motion picture which won the avant-garde prize at last summer's Venice Film Festival, Lament for Ignacio Sanchez Mejias. Choregraphed by Doris Humphrey for Jose Limon and his company, it was inspired by a Garcia Lorca poem, and has been termed "masterful" by the Herald Tribune dance critic, Walter Terry.

Rare Film to Be Shown At Gallery July 26-27

Woodstock, July 24—Seldom-seen Indian ceremonials, rare dance shots of Martha Graham, Josephine Baker, Charlie Chaplin, and even of the original Little Egypt will be shown Saturday and Sunday at the Art Gallery when the Cinema Club presents Fifty Years of the Dance on Film, the final offering in its art film series.

Motion pictures of the most brilliant dancers in the classical Russian ballet will also be shown on the program which has been selected from the D. D. Livingston dance film collection, largest in the world. Livingston will lecture.

One of the highlights of the program will be the motion picture which won the avant-garde prize at last summer's Venice Film Festival, Lament for Ignacio Sanchez Mejias. Choregraphed by Doris Humphrey for Jose Limon and his company, it was inspired by a Garcia Lorca poem, and has been termed "masterful" by the Herald Tribune dance critic, Walter Terry.

Truman Lashes

going to discuss the situation with our own people."

Murray confirmed the statement.

There were no words of hope of a quick settlement, but an aura of optimism surrounded the meetings.

To Talk to Associates

The fact that Fairless and Murray planned to talk to their associates seemed to indicate that some kind of new formula for ending the strike was in the works.

In a brief statement read to reporters, Fairless said:

"We have had a meeting with the President and Dr. Steelman and we have talked at length about our mutual problem. We are each going to discuss the situation with our own people."

Murray would add nothing to the Fairless statement but said he subscribed to it wholeheartedly.

Sitting in on the talk between Murray and Fairless was Dr. John R. Steelman, acting mobilization director, and the President's number one peacemaker in scraps between unions and management.

A White House spokesman told reporters that Truman in talking to Fairless and Murray made a pointed plea for a strike settlement and used very strong language.

The appeal, the spokesman said, amounted to an ultimatum.

There was nothing by way of an indication of just what the or else of any ultimatum would be. Truman went about as far as a President could go when he seized the industry in April. But the Supreme Court told him in June he had no right to do that. The strike followed immediately.

In any case, however, an aura of hope hung over the meetings. And there were rumors that other steel industry leaders had been summoned.

Talked 10 Minutes

Joseph Short, the President's press secretary told waiting reporters Truman's pep talk lasted 10 minutes. Said Short:

"The President told them he wanted a settlement."

Then, he added:

"The two gentlemen have retired to the cabinet room and are now conferring."

Pressed for more details, Short replied: "I've said all I can say."

Neither Murray nor Fairless voiced optimism, in anything more than the most general way, as they entered the President's office in what appeared to be Truman's showdown effort for strike peace.

Today's conference was one of the more dramatic meetings between Truman and chieftains of labor and industry. In order to talk with them, the President put off a planned visit to the Democratic national convention until tomorrow.

Final Big Try

Truman apparently was making the administration's final big try to bring accord between the industry and striking steelworkers.

Murray entered the White House grounds alone and on foot. "I have nothing to say at the moment, gentlemen," he told reporters.

He shook hands with Fairless, who had arrived earlier in a long limousine.

Fairless told newsmen, when asked if he expected a strike-settling agreement today:

"I always expect a settlement," then, he added: "I have been invited here—I cannot talk. I'm not going to make any statement at all."

Acting Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman, whose repeated mediation attempts to stop the strike have failed, was asked to sit in on the talks.

Looming ominously in the background was the threat of imminent paralysis to the nation's defense effort.

Longest in History

Defense Secretary Robert Lovett estimated that "somewhere between 20 and 30 per cent" of the expected arms production for this year would be lost because of the strike, the longest steel production stoppage in the nation's history.

Possibility of a crippling strike in a second vital industry—coal—made the picture even darker. John L. Lewis was reported to have notified at least part of the soft coal industry the present contracts will end in two months.

Judging from past experience, that means a strike or slowdown in coal fields is all but inevitable if a new contract is not signed by Sept. 22.

Coal stocks are at near record levels—about 70 days supply on hand—and a strike in mid-September would indicate the pinch would begin to be felt about the time cool weather sets in.

The President said nothing in advance about a possible bold new plan to compromise the bitter steel dispute.

There was speculation that he might suggest a new plan to deal with the union's demand for a union shop—an arrangement which compels all workers to join the union.

The union shop demand—and the industry's refusal so far to agree to any form of union shop—was the only remaining obstacle to settlement when the last industry-union negotiations collapsed last Sunday.

92 Years in Same House

Brownsville, Tenn. (AP)—A century-old house, built of logs handhewn by her father, has always been "home, sweet home" to Mrs. Laura Cornell. For all of her 92 years, Mrs. Cornell has lived in the house. She was born, reared and married there. And there she'll remain, she says, until she dies. "I always felt home was the place for me. I had rather be home than anywhere."

Trailer Load of Steel Desks

With the big steel strike still on, this trailer load of steel desks was a welcome sight at O'Reilly's office equipment store this week. That some of these steel desks were ordered almost two years ago is an indication of how far in advance a firm must plan to keep its customers supplied with items, such as steel desks, which are in short supply, William O'Reilly stated.

At present, a candidate for the Texas State Legislature in July primaries, Miss Blair is visiting New York with her 14-year-old seeing-eye dog, Fawn.

To Begin $91,000 Tri-Valley School Grounds Project

Martin Cooper of the engineering firm of Cooper-Robbins, Liberty, announced today that a preliminary work schedule had been accepted from the contractors for the development of the grounds of the Tri Valley School at Grahamsville.

Cooper stated that I. and A. O. Slutzky, Hunter, had been granted the contract as lowest bidders, and that work would be undertaken the latter part of the week.

The project, for which $91,000 has been appropriated, will include three elementary play-areas, an athletic field for baseball, softball, and football, some large hard-surfaced areas for minor sports, and the general landscaping of approximately nine acres of the land surrounding the new building. The completion of the whole project is anticipated by the spring of 1953.

Three Centuries

seized by an Indian brave who rode with her into the forest. The settlers organized a posse and, assisted by Dutch soldiers provided by Governor Peter Stuyvesant (George Mustaparta), began a search for the "lost ones." All were finally recovered but Beatrice Sleight chose to remain with the Indian who had captured her.

"Say that you but love me, White Dove, and I will stay with you," she said to the brave. White Dove proclaimed his affection, the story tells us, and the Dutch girl chose to remain with the Indians.

In Episode 4 the Dutch and Indians bury the wampum belt, establishing a pact which was to endure through the Revolution. Episode 5 depicts the several changes of allegiance as the fortunes of the Dutch and English rose and fell in the new world.

Episode 7, one of the most effective, described the inauguration in 1743 of George Clinton, played by Lloyd LeFever, as governor of New York, the rising indignation of the settlers, the burning of the stamps and, ultimately, the Declaration of Independence. The part of John Jay was played by the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra.

City Is Burned

Episode 8 described the birth of New York state government in Kingston and Episode 9 the burning of the city by the British. The scene was presented with dramatic effect, the approach of the British from the Hudson having been detected by a Negro servant who saw the sunlight sparkling in the distance on the large bright buttons of their jackets.

The Redcoats rushed into the city, wielding their long, bayonetted muskets, and, after crushing all opposition, set fire to Kingston. All lights were extinguished suddenly and the effect of a city in conflagration neatly achieved by lighting luminous flares which glowed in red haze behind the backdrop of blue curtains, sending up clouds of smoke.

The visit of George Washington to Kingston in 1782 was a noteworthy occasion. This scene was presented in a charming manner, Washington, played by George Loughran, dancing a quadrille with Sarah Van Gaasbeck, played by Audrey Shultis.

Burr Visits Kingston

The village of Kingston was incorporated in 1805, as depicted in Episode 11, and in Episode 12 the wealth and industry of the area was dramatized. In one of these scenes Aaron Burr, played by Harry Rigby, Jr., was driving through the city in horse and carriage and had to stop at the local smithy. While waiting for the blacksmith to shoe one of his horses, Burr wandered through the city, later returning to find a young man in cheap homespun painting his horse and carriage. The young artist was the famous John Vanderlyn, played by Howard C. St. John, Kingston attorney. One of Vanderlyn's best-known works is his painting of the landing of Columbus which hangs in the capitol rotunda in Washington, D. C.

The Rev. Arthur Oudemool plays Abraham Lincoln in Episode 13, the black-clad figure, standing alone in the huge stadium, creating a striking effect as a rich voice repeats the famous Gettysburg Address, one of the nation's finest democratic statements.

Nineties Scene Charming

One of the most charming scenes of the pageant filled with delightful effects was the episode of the Mary Powell, a beloved riverboat, which offered the discerning taste of Director Rose and Mrs. Gross a perfect vehicle for a panoramic portrayal of the gay and charming Nineties. The gowns, which were lent to the pageant by local residents, were a swirl of color, narrow waist and bustle, topped by hats of pure fascination.

A baby carriage with a fringed parasol suspended above it went trundling past. Children skipped about and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harper wheeled among the promenaders on a tandem bike. It was all very delightful, in a light vein, despite a last-minute spill by the Harpers which may, or may not, have been designed. Also featured in the trek to the riverside to see the Mary Powell was a fine carriage drawn by a high-prancing steed.

Port Ewen Bugle Corps

The last two episodes featured the brilliant Port Ewen Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps which marched with excellent precision over the tricky terrain of the baseball diamond, depicting the role of the nation, and Kingston, in World Wars 1 and 2, the city's sacrifice and glory, and concluding with a pledge of allegiance to the flag by Girl and Boy Scouts and a stirring rendition of The Star Spangled Banner.

Before the pageant began a couple, wed yesterday afternoon on the CBS television show, Bride and Groom, came swirling up before the stadium in a honeymoon car, streaming ribbons and rattling tin cans. The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson Turnley of Spottsylvania county, Virginia, who will be guests of the Governor Clinton Hotel, were welcomed by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk who presented them with a key to the city. Howard C. St. John acted as master of ceremonies. Following their introduction the couple took seats to watch the pageant.

Leading the police escord provided for the Turnleys was Officer Guernsey Burger, Jr., on motorcycle. The car was decorated by members of the local police department.

Eisenhower Aides

ed by Walter Williams of Seattle.

Eisenhower declared, Duff said, that he was in wholehearted accord with the idea and gave instructions assigning the committee a key role in the campaign.

The committee will have the job of bringing out a big vote of registered Republicans next fall. But Duff said it will pay special attention to trying to win over independents and disgruntled Democrats.

The Pennsylvania Senator added that the committee activities will be coordinated closely with the work of the Republican National committee, and the regular GOP political organizations everywhere.

A White House spokesman told reporters that Truman in talking to Fairless and Murray made a pointed plea for a strike settlement and used very strong language.

The appeal, the spokesman said, amounted to an ultimatum.

There was nothing by way of an indication of just what the or else of any ultimatum would be. Truman went about as far as a President could go when he seized the industry in April. But the Supreme Court told him in June he had no right to do that. The strike followed immediately.

In any case, however, an aura of hope hung over the meetings. And there were rumors that other steel industry leaders had been summoned.

Talked 10 Minutes

Joseph Short, the President's press secretary told waiting reporters Truman's pep talk lasted 10 minutes. Said Short:

"The President told them he wanted a settlement."

Then, he added:

"The two gentlemen have retired to the cabinet room and are now conferring."

Pressed for more details, Short replied: "I've said all I can say."

Neither Murray nor Fairless voiced optimism, in anything more than the most general way, as they entered the President's office in what appeared to be Truman's showdown effort for strike peace.

Today's conference was one of the more dramatic meetings between Truman and chieftains of labor and industry. In order to talk with them, the President put off a planned visit to the Democratic national convention until tomorrow.

Final Big Try

Truman apparently was making the administration's final big try to bring accord between the industry and striking steelworkers.

Murray entered the White House grounds alone and on foot. "I have nothing to say at the moment, gentlemen," he told reporters.

He shook hands with Fairless, who had arrived earlier in a long limousine.

Fairless told newsmen, when asked if he expected a strike-settling agreement today:

"I always expect a settlement," then, he added: "I have been invited here—I cannot talk. I'm not going to make any statement at all."

Acting Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman, whose repeated mediation attempts to stop the strike have failed, was asked to sit in on the talks.

Looming ominously in the background was the threat of imminent paralysis to the nation's defense effort.

Longest in History

Defense Secretary Robert Lovett estimated that "somewhere between 20 and 30 per cent" of the expected arms production for this year would be lost because of the strike, the longest steel production stoppage in the nation's history.

Possibility of a crippling strike in a second vital industry—coal—made the picture even darker. John L. Lewis was reported to have notified at least part of the soft coal industry the present contracts will end in two months.

Judging from past experience, that means a strike or slowdown in coal fields is all but inevitable if a new contract is not signed by Sept. 22.

Coal stocks are at near record levels—about 70 days supply on hand—and a strike in mid-September would indicate the pinch would begin to be felt about the time cool weather sets in.

The President said nothing in advance about a possible bold new plan to compromise the bitter steel dispute.

There was speculation that he might suggest a new plan to deal with the union's demand for a union shop—an arrangement which compels all workers to join the union.

The union shop demand—and the industry's refusal so far to agree to any form of union shop—was the only remaining obstacle to settlement when the last industry-union negotiations collapsed last Sunday.

Trailer Load of Steel Desks

With the big steel strike still on, this trailer load of steel desks was a welcome sight at O'Reilly's office equipment store this week. That some of these steel desks were ordered almost two years ago is an indication of how far in advance a firm must plan to keep its customers supplied with items, such as steel desks, which are in short supply, William O'Reilly stated.

To Begin $91,000 Tri-Valley School Grounds Project

Martin Cooper of the engineering firm of Cooper-Robbins, Liberty, announced today that a preliminary work schedule had been accepted from the contractors for the development of the grounds of the Tri Valley School at Grahamsville.

Cooper stated that I. and A. O. Slutzky, Hunter, had been granted the contract as lowest bidders, and that work would be undertaken the latter part of the week.

The project, for which $91,000 has been appropriated, will include three elementary play-areas, an athletic field for baseball, softball, and football, some large hard-surfaced areas for minor sports, and the general landscaping of approximately nine acres of the land surrounding the new building. The completion of the whole project is anticipated by the spring of 1953.

Three Centuries

seized by an Indian brave who rode with her into the forest. The settlers organized a posse and, assisted by Dutch soldiers provided by Governor Peter Stuyvesant (George Mustaparta), began a search for the "lost ones." All were finally recovered but Beatrice Sleight chose to remain with the Indian who had captured her.

"Say that you but love me, White Dove, and I will stay with you," she said to the brave. White Dove proclaimed his affection, the story tells us, and the Dutch girl chose to remain with the Indians.

In Episode 4 the Dutch and Indians bury the wampum belt, establishing a pact which was to endure through the Revolution. Episode 5 depicts the several changes of allegiance as the fortunes of the Dutch and English rose and fell in the new world.

City Is Burned

Episode 8 described the birth of New York state government in Kingston and Episode 9 the burning of the city by the British. The scene was presented with dramatic effect, the approach of the British from the Hudson having been detected by a Negro servant who saw the sunlight sparkling in the distance on the large bright buttons of their jackets.

The Redcoats rushed into the city, wielding their long, bayonetted muskets, and, after crushing all opposition, set fire to Kingston. All lights were extinguished suddenly and the effect of a city in conflagration neatly achieved by lighting luminous flares which glowed in red haze behind the backdrop of blue curtains, sending up clouds of smoke.

The visit of George Washington to Kingston in 1782 was a noteworthy occasion. This scene was presented in a charming manner, Washington, played by George Loughran, dancing a quadrille with Sarah Van Gaasbeck, played by Audrey Shultis.

Burr Visits Kingston

The village of Kingston was incorporated in 1805, as depicted in Episode 11, and in Episode 12 the wealth and industry of the area was dramatized. In one of these scenes Aaron Burr, played by Harry Rigby, Jr., was driving through the city in horse and carriage and had to stop at the local smithy. While waiting for the blacksmith to shoe one of his horses, Burr wandered through the city, later returning to find a young man in cheap homespun painting his horse and carriage. The young artist was the famous John Vanderlyn, played by Howard C. St. John, Kingston attorney. One of Vanderlyn's best-known works is his painting of the landing of Columbus which hangs in the capitol rotunda in Washington, D. C.

The Rev. Arthur Oudemool plays Abraham Lincoln in Episode 13, the black-clad figure, standing alone in the huge stadium, creating a striking effect as a rich voice repeats the famous Gettysburg Address, one of the nation's finest democratic statements.

Nineties Scene Charming

One of the most charming scenes of the pageant filled with delightful effects was the episode of the Mary Powell, a beloved riverboat, which offered the discerning taste of Director Rose and Mrs. Gross a perfect vehicle for a panoramic portrayal of the gay and charming Nineties. The gowns, which were lent to the pageant by local residents, were a swirl of color, narrow waist and bustle, topped by hats of pure fascination.

A baby carriage with a fringed parasol suspended above it went trundling past. Children skipped about and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harper wheeled among the promenaders on a tandem bike. It was all very delightful, in a light vein, despite a last-minute spill by the Harpers which may, or may not, have been designed. Also featured in the trek to the riverside to see the Mary Powell was a fine carriage drawn by a high-prancing steed.

Port Ewen Bugle Corps

The last two episodes featured the brilliant Port Ewen Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps which marched with excellent precision over the tricky terrain of the baseball diamond, depicting the role of the nation, and Kingston, in World Wars 1 and 2, the city's sacrifice and glory, and concluding with a pledge of allegiance to the flag by Girl and Boy Scouts and a stirring rendition of The Star Spangled Banner.

Before the pageant began a couple, wed yesterday afternoon on the CBS television show, Bride and Groom, came swirling up before the stadium in a honeymoon car, streaming ribbons and rattling tin cans. The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson Turnley of Spottsylvania county, Virginia, who will be guests of the Governor Clinton Hotel, were welcomed by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk who presented them with a key to the city. Howard C. St. John acted as master of ceremonies. Following their introduction the couple took seats to watch the pageant.

Leading the police escord provided for the Turnleys was Officer Guernsey Burger, Jr., on motorcycle. The car was decorated by members of the local police department.

Eisenhower Aides

ed by Walter Williams of Seattle.

Eisenhower declared, Duff said, that he was in wholehearted accord with the idea and gave instructions assigning the committee a key role in the campaign.

The committee will have the job of bringing out a big vote of registered Republicans next fall. But Duff said it will pay special attention to trying to win over independents and disgruntled Democrats.

The Pennsylvania Senator added that the committee activities will be coordinated closely with the work of the Republican National committee, and the regular GOP political organizations everywhere.

District 3 Little League Sectional Tournament Opens Here July 29th

Twelve Mid-Hudson Teams to Compete; Poughkeepsie Will Send Five Squads

The District 3 Sectional Little League baseball tournament will be played at the 156th FA diamond, local home of Little League baseball, starting Tuesday, July 29, it was announced today.

Robert Umpleby, KAA Little League director, said 12 teams would compete, including five from Poughkeepsie.

The remainder of the field includes Kingston, Highland, Pawling, Hyde Park, Hopewell Junction, Saugerties and Millerton.

The tournament will be a single elimination, with single games scheduled on July 29-30-31, Aug. 1 and a doubleheader on Saturday, Aug. 2.

Umpleby, who will serve as District 3 director, has announced the following pairings for the first round of play:

Tuesday, July 29—Pawling vs. Poughkeepsie No. 1

Wednesday, July 30 — Saugerties vs. Millerton

Thursday, July 31 — Highland vs. Poughkeepsie No. 2

Friday, Aug. 1 — Poughkeepsie No. 3 vs. Kingston

KAA Pleased

Umpleby said the Kingston Athletic Association and the 156th Field Artillery, Col. Frank W. Harkin, commanding, were happy to be hosts to the sectionals.

"Little League regional headquarters have informed us that Kingston did a swell job in 1951," Umpleby said. "They are granting us this larger tournament on the basis of last year's performance in Kingston and the added strength of one of the finest Little League stadiums in the east."

"Col. Harkin and the 156th FA are also happy to serve as co-hosts for the tournament," Umpleby continued. "Kingston fans will have a chance to see all the outstanding small fry talent in the mid-Hudson district."

Saugerties Tough

Umpleby emphasized that he was particularly impressed by advance reports on Saugerties.

"The folks up there have a powerful league in their first year of organization," the KAA president went on, "and we understand they will come down with a pitcher who is absolutely amazing."

"Naturally, we are hopeful that Kingston can repeat its performance of 1951 when it won the sectional tournament and then lost out on a fluke hit in the district finals at Newburgh However, it figures to be much tougher this time, because the field has been increased by seven teams and Saugerties and Poughkeepsie figure to be pretty rough."

The all-star selections for the Kingston Little League will be announced over the weekend, Umpleby said. League managers and coaches are now working on their ballots.

All local games will be handled by the KAA Little League umpiring staff, except when the Kingston team is involved.

Efforts will be made to get additional seating arrangements. Last year's playoffs were largely attended with more than 1500 persons watching the tournament opener.

Samsonville Wins Opening Game, 5-1 As Keator Excels

Given a four-run bulge in the first inning, Pete Keator, ace Samsonville hurler, pitched a neat three-hitter as Samsonville turned back Camp High Point Tuesday night by 5 to 1 in the Olive Memorial Post Baseball League.

Keator had a no-hit no-run game going for five and a third innings until Al Tarlow, his opposing moundsman, blasted a homer over the trees in left center. In the seventh High Point collected two more hits but failed to do any more scoring against Keator.

Keator, while limiting the losers to three hits, rolled up a strikeout total of 15 batters.

Except for a bad start, Tarlow pitched good ball. He allowed five hits, two of them coming in the last six innings of play.

Samsonville practically sewed up the decision in the first frame on three hits and three walks. The winners added their final marker in the fifth without the aid of a hit as High Point came up with a couple of costly errors.

In the pre-game ceremonies, the Camp High Point color guard paraded to the mound and members of both teams saluted and pledged allegiance to the flag. The first ball was thrown out by President Frankle.

Score by innings:

Samsonville	400	010	0—5 5 2
High Point	000	001	0—1 3 2

Strafaci, McBride Tie for Medal Honors

Ridgewood, N. J., July 24 (AP)—Former titleholders Frank Strafaci of Garden City, N. Y., and Joe McBride of Arcola tied for medal honors at 72 in the opening of the Metropolitan Amateur Golf Championship yesterday.

They both shot par in leading 158 players over the Ridgewood Country Club course in steam bath temperatures. A battling runner-up in the field of 64 qualifiers was Tim Holland of Rockville Centre, N. Y., at 73. Holland led until the 15th hole with under-par golf but busted three over on the 15th and one over on the 16th to drop back.

Tied with Holland at 73 were Don Morano of Englewood, a finalist in the tournament in 1945; Murray Vernon, Jr., of Greenwich, Conn.; James W. Paul of Piping Rock, and George J. Baskiel, a golfing railroad conductor from Queens, N. Y.

Fred W. Mayer, Westchester, 38-38—76.

Olin Gerrochi, Garden City, 37-39—76.

Don Cherry, Garden City, 39-38—77.

New Paltz Captures Invitational; Ed Scharmer Scores Triple Win

The Scoreboard

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The magic number now is 18 in Pittsburgh's wild dash toward the major league booby prize.

Any combination of 18 Pirate losses or Brooklyn wins will do the job. As the Pittsburgh lads (0-13 with Brooklyn) play 11 more with the Dodgers, it should not take too iong.

It will take a deal of hustling by the Detroit Tigers to rob the Pirates of the "distinction" of becoming the first club to be eliminated mathematically from the race.

After last night's loss to Philadelphia, 4-1, Pittsburgh rested 41 games behind Brooklyn with 59 to play. And this is only July 24.

Rookie Steve Ridzik and Ace Robin Roberts of the Phils teamed up on the Pirates with a five-hitter while Del Ennis blasted a two-run homer that doomed Bob Friend to his 15th defeat.

Lefty Halts Dodgers

Brooklyn lost to a lefthanded starter for the first time this season, letting Harry Perkowski of Cincinnati go nine with a 10-hitter, 6-4. Homers by Joe Adcock, Andy Seminick and Bob Borkowski off Carl Erskine carried more weight than Billy Cox's two-run double and Gil Hodges' 19th homer with one on.

Because New York and St. Louis were idle, the Dodgers lost only a half game of the National League lead, now measuring seven games.

Bob Rush, making his eighth try for win No. 10 since June 13, finally succeeded in Boston where the Chicago Cubs ripped into Max Surkont and three others for 13 hits and 6-2 victory.

Lemon Stops Yanks

Just when the New York Yankees were ready to land a knockout blow on Cleveland, the Indians bounced back behind Bob Lemon to win, 7-3. Coming after Tuesday's double loss, the Tribe still trailed by 6½ games in fourth place.

Lemon's first triumph over the Yanks this year was a fine six-hitter to hand rookie Tom Gorman his first setback. Al Rosen's 18th homer in the fifth put Cleveland ahead to stay.

Boston closed to within four games of the Yanks by blasting seven runs in the ninth inning at Chicago for a 10-4 decision.

Washington remained in a challenging position, only six games back, by besting Detroit in 16 innings, 5-2. Singles by Pete Runnels and Mickey Vernon drove in three runs in the 16th after Cliff Mapes' homer tied the score for Detroit in the ninth.

Starter Alex Kellner and winner Bob Hooper held St. Louis to four hits as the Philadelphia A's handed the Browns their seventh straight defeat, 3-2.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting—Joe Adcock, Reds—Hit homer, double and single for perfect day to help Harry Perkowski become first starting lefty to beat Brooklyn, 6-4.

Pitching—Bob Lemon, Indians—Stopped New York with six hits, 7-3, to help Indians bounce back from Tuesday's double loss to Yankees.

New Paltz won the team title in the first annual Hudson Valley Invitational Swim Relays Sunday at Highland, riding home on the strength of brilliant individual performances by Shirley Van Kleeck and Ed Scharmer.

Scharmer was a one-man water show as he swept to first place in the 100-yard free style event; the 500-yard and 200-yard freestyle races and swam the third leg in the winning relay team.

Miss Van Kleeck, a noted county swimmer, won both the junior and senior women's 50-yard free style, shading her teammate, Altrude Palmer in both events. Pat Van Kleeck gave New Paltz a first in the 50-yard backstroke.

The biggest thrill of the day came in the 1000-yard swim where Axel Thyrum of Hyde Park edged Clark Kurtz of Highland by a stroke in a dazzling finish.

Thyrum and Kurtz blazed down the stretch head to head until the final yard when Thyrum moved in. Lonnie Zimmerman, of New Paltz, was a scant six feet behind the near photo finish.

The summaries:

50-yard freestyle, men juniors—Won by Ralph Widmer, Newburgh; third, Axel Thryum, Hyde Park.

50-yard freestyle, women juniors—Won by Shirley Van Kleeck, New Paltz; second Altrude Palmer, New Paltz; third, Pat Van Kleeck, New Paltz.

Twelve Mid-Hudson Teams to Compete; Poughkeepsie Will Send Five Squads

The District 3 Sectional Little League baseball tournament will be played at the 156th FA diamond, local home of Little League baseball, starting Tuesday, July 29, it was announced today.

Robert Umpleby, KAA Little League director, said 12 teams would compete, including five from Poughkeepsie.

The remainder of the field includes Kingston, Highland, Pawling, Hyde Park, Hopewell Junction, Saugerties and Millerton.

The tournament will be a single elimination, with single games scheduled on July 29-30-31, Aug. 1 and a doubleheader on Saturday, Aug. 2.

Umpleby, who will serve as District 3 director, has announced the following pairings for the first round of play:

Tuesday, July 29—Pawling vs. Poughkeepsie No. 1

Wednesday, July 30 — Saugerties vs. Millerton

Thursday, July 31 — Highland vs. Poughkeepsie No. 2

Friday, Aug. 1 — Poughkeepsie No. 3 vs. Kingston

Saturday, Aug. 2 — Poughkeepsie No. 4 vs. Hyde Park; Hopewell Junction vs. Poughkeepsie No. 5.

KAA Pleased

Umpleby said the Kingston Athletic Association and the 156th Field Artillery, Col. Frank W. Harkin, commanding, were happy to be hosts to the sectionals.

"Little League regional headquarters have informed us that Kingston did a swell job in 1951," Umpleby said. "They are granting us this larger tournament on the basis of last year's performance in Kingston and the added strength of one of the finest Little League stadiums in the east."

"Col. Harkin and the 156th FA are also happy to serve as cohosts for the tournament," Umpleby continued. "Kingston fans will have a chance to see all the outstanding small fry talent in the mid-Hudson district."

Saugerties Tough

Umpleby emphasized that he was particularly impressed by advance reports on Saugerties.

"The folks up there have a powerful league in their first year of organization," the KAA president went on, "and we understand they will come down with a pitcher who is absolutely amazing."

"Naturally, we are hopeful that Kingston can repeat its performance of 1951 when it won the sectional tournament and then lost out on a fluke hit in the district finals at Newburgh However, it figures to be much tougher this time, because the field has been increased by seven teams and Saugerties and Poughkeepsie figure to be pretty rough."

The all-star selections for the Kingston Little League will be announced over the weekend, Umpleby said. League managers and coaches are now working on their ballots.

All local games will be handled by the KAA Little League umpiring staff, except when the Kingston team is involved.

Efforts will be made to get additional seating arrangements. Last year's playoffs were largely attended with more than 1500 persons watching the tournament opener.

Pronto Don Favorite

Westbury, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—Pronto Don, harness racing's third highest money winner with $218,516, is favored to increase his bankroll tonight in the $25,000 American trotting championship at Roosevelt Raceway. The renowned trotting gelding from the Hayes Fair Acres Stable of Duquoin, Ill., will line up in the No. 2 spot for the seventh invitational affair. Ford Hanover, owned by Bill Strang of Brooklyn, appears to have the best chance of surprising.

East Germans Admitted

Helsinki, July 24 (AP)—Eastern Germany was admitted to full membership in the International Football Federation (FIFA) at the 26th Congress of that body today. It was a unanimous decision of 53 nations to the Congress.

Samsonville Wins Opening Game, 5-1 As Keator Excels

Given a four-run bulge in the first inning, Pete Keator, ace Samsonville hurler, pitched a neat three-hitter as Samsonville turned back Camp High Point Tuesday night by 5 to 1 in the Olive Memorial Post Baseball League.

Keator had a no-hit no-run game going for five and a third innings until Al Tarlow, his opposing moundsman, blasted a homer over the trees in left center. In the seventh High Point collected two more hits but failed to do any more scoring against Keator.

Keator, while limiting the losers to three hits, rolled up a strikeout total of 15 batters.

Except for a bad start, Tarlow pitched good ball. He allowed five hits, two of them coming in the last six innings of play.

Samsonville practically sewed up the decision in the first frame on three hits and three walks. The winners added their final marker in the fifth without the aid of a hit as High Point came up with a couple of costly errors.

In the pre-game ceremonies, the Camp High Point color guard paraded to the mound and members of both teams saluted and pledged allegiance to the flag. The first ball was thrown out by President Frankle.

Score by innings:

Samsonville ....400 010 0—5 5 2
High Point .....000 001 0—1 3 2

Batteries — Keator and Gray; Tarlow and Newman.

New Paltz Captures Invitational; Ed Scharmer Scores Triple Win

New Paltz won the team title in the first annual Hudson Valley Invitational Swim Relays Sunday at Highland, riding home on the strength of brilliant individual performances by Shirley Van Kleeck and Ed Scharmer.

The Paltz squad grossed 46 points. Newburgh was second with 31, followed by Highland with 21, and Hyde Park with 19.

Scharmer was a one-man watershow as he swept to first place in the 100-yard free style event; the 500-yard and 200-yard freestyle races and swam the third leg in the winning relay team.

Miss Van Kleeck, a noted county swimmer, won both the junior and senior women's 50-yard free style, shading her teammate, Altrude Palmer in both events. Pat Van Kleeck gave New Paltz a first in the 50-yard backstroke.

Tom DuBois, the Newburgh star, captured the 50-yard freestyle and 50-yard backstroke for juniors.

The biggest thrill of the day came in the 1000-yard swim where Axel Thyrum of Hyde Park edged Clark Kurtz of Highland by a stroke in a dazzling finish.

Thyrum and Kurtz blazed down the stretch head to head until the final yard when Thyrum moved in. Lonnie Zimmerman, of New Paltz, was a scant six feet behind the near photo finish.

Individual cups were awarded to individual winners, while Coach Bud Connolly accepted a large team championship trophy in behalf of the winning New Paltz squad.

The summaries:

50-yard freestyle, men juniors—Won by Ralph Widmer, Newburgh; third, Axel Thryum, Hyde Park.

The Scoreboard

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The magic number now is 18 in Pittsburgh's wild dash toward the major league booby prize.

Any combination of 18 Pirate losses or Brooklyn wins will do the job. As the Pittsburgh lads (0-13 with Brooklyn) play 11 more with the Dodgers, it should not take too long.

It will take a deal of hustling by the Detroit Tigers to rob the Pirates of the "distinction" of becoming the first club to be eliminated mathematically from the race.

After last night's loss to Philadelphia, 4-1, Pittsburgh rested 41 games behind Brooklyn with 59 to play. And this is only July 24.

Rookie Steve Ridzik and Ace Robin Roberts of the Phils teamed up on the Pirates with a five-hitter while Del Ennis blasted a two-run homer that doomed Bob Friend to his 15th defeat.

Lefty Halts Dodgers

Brooklyn lost to a lefthanded starter for the first time this season, letting Harry Perkowski of Cincinnati go nine with a 10-hitter, 6-4. Homers by Joe Adcock, Andy Seminick and Bob Borkowski off Carl Erskine carried more weight than Billy Cox's two-run double and Gil Hodges' 19th homer with one on.

Because New York and St. Louis were idle, the Dodgers lost only a half game of the National League lead, now measuring seven games.

Bob Rush, making his eighth try for win No. 10 since June 13, finally succeeded in Boston where the Chicago Cubs ripped into Max Surkont and three others for 13 hits and 6-2 victory.

Lemon Stops Yanks

Just when the New York Yankees were ready to land a knockout blow on Cleveland, the Indians bounced back behind Bob Lemon to win, 7-3. Coming after Tuesday's double loss, the Tribe still trailed by 6½ games in fourth place.

Lemon's first triumph over the Yanks this year was a fine six-hitter to hand rookie Tom Gorman his first setback. Al Rosen's 18th homer in the fifth put Cleveland ahead to stay.

Boston closed to within four games of the Yanks by blasting seven runs in the ninth inning at Chicago for a 10-4 decision.

Washington remained in a challenging position, only six games back, by besting Detroit in 16 innings, 5-2. Singles by Pete Runnels and Mickey Vernon drove in three runs in the 16th after Cliff Mapes' homer tied the score for Detroit in the ninth.

Starter Alex Kellner and winner Bob Hooper held St. Louis to four hits as the Philadelphia A's handed the Browns their seventh straight defeat, 3-2.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting—Joe Adcock, Reds—Hit homer, double and single for perfect day to help Harry Perkowski become first starting lefty to beat Brooklyn, 6-4.

Pitching—Bob Lemon, Indians—Stopped New York with six hits, 7-3, to help Indians bounce back from Tuesday's double loss to Yankees.

Two More Records Are Broken In Olympic Games at Helsinki

Hungary and Russia Establish New Marks

Helsinki, July 24 (AP) — Two more Olympic records were broken today, making it 14 in all in five days of track and field competition.

But for American athletes there was a comparatively quiet interlude after yesterday's fivering circus of record-wrecking.

All three American "whales" qualified for the final of the hammer throw after Jossef Csermak of Hungary broke the Olympic record on his first toss.

But Henry Laskau of New York, America's best heel-and-toe performer, was disqualified in the trial heat of the 10,000 meter walk in which Bruno Junk of Russia set a new Olympic mark, and S. Price King, Jr., of Berkeley, Calif., failed to qualify for the final, finishing dead last in his heat.

Csermak whirled the 16-pound hammer out 57.20 meter (187 feet 8.02 inches) to shatter the Olympic record of 185 feet 4.06 inches established in 1936 by Karl Hein of Germany. That was the 13th record-breaking track and field performance of the 15th Olympic games, which saw five records smashed and two tied yesterday.

Junk brought the total to 14 when he won his heat in the 10,000 meters walk in 45 minutes, 5.8 seconds. The former mark of 45:13.5 was set by John Mikaelsson of Sweden, who finished second to Junk and surpassed his old record.

In the hammer throw, Sam Felton of New York, one-time Harvard athlete, led the Americans with a heave of 166 feet 9.63 inches. Martin Engel of New York did 164 feet ½ inch and Bob Backus of New York 161 feet 11.73 inches. They were required only to throw 160 feet 9.17 inches to qualify for the final this afternoon.

Laskau, a refugee from Nazi Germany and now a New York business man, was disconsolate after his disqualification for failing to keep one foot in contact with the ground.

No Protest Planned

But Coach Brutus Hamilton said he would not protest.

"This is the best officiated meet I've ever seen," Hamilton said.

A number of other walkers also were disqualified. Laskau, holder of the world record in the mile walk, was expected to be among the leaders in the final.

Meanwhile the International Football Federation, governing body of soccer football, gave an indication of a possible solution to one touchy problem still confronting Olympic authorities when it gave full membership to East Germany.

Olympic officials had postponed a decision after East Germany had refused to join with the west on forming one national team for the 1952 Olympics.

Other events this morning were unimportant from the American viewpoint. They included fencing, women's gymnastics and Greco-Roman wrestling, which affored Russia and European nations a chance to add to their totals in the unofficial point scoring.

Russia in Lead

Going into today's program Russia held the lead in all-events scoring with 266½ points to 202 for the United States and 59 for Hungary. The Russians scored 92½ of their points in men's gymnastics.

America's best prospect of winning a gold medal today appeared to be in the 110-meter hurdles, in which Harrison Dillard of Cleveland equalled the Olympic record yesterday. The idea of collecting medals was firmly implanted in the minds of the Americans by their startling one-two performance in the javelin throw yesterday.

"We don't mean to be rude," said Brutus Hamilton, the head U. S. coach, with a grin. "But the idea of taking every medal we can lay our hands on is sweeping the camp. Everybody wants to get into the act.

"Some of our fellows are just beginning to realize the medals don't go any deeper than third place (fourth, fifth and sixth get diplomas of merit) but now that they've found out, they are out to get them."

But despite the eagerness of the Americans to grab all of the silverware, they have met in the Russians a group of athletes just as proficient but in different sports. As the result the Russians held a 266½ to 202 total point lead over the U. S. today, thanks chiefly to the dominance of their gymnasts.

The United States may score some other unexpected victories in these games which run through Aug. 3, but none of them will be more astonishing to the home folks here in Finland than the 1-2 success in the javelin yesterday.

Javelin throwing is a national sport here. They teach it to kids of five and six. So you can imagine the feeling of the crowd of 70,000 in the modern Olympic Stadium when Cy Young, a 23-year-old, six-foot five giant from Modesto, Calif., flung the spear to an Olympic record distance of 73.78 meters (242 feet .79 inches). And to add insult to injury along came Bill Miller of Phoenix, Ariz., to grab second place.

It was another record day all around in track and field—two world records bettered, five Olympic marks broken and two equalled. Like a fisherman out for big things, anything less than a record was tossed back.

Betters Own Mark

Ferreira Da Silva of Brazil bettered his own world record in the hop, step and jump. Shirley Strickland of Australia beat the world record in a heat of the women's 80 meter hurdles, Yvette Williams of New Zealand won the women's broad jump with an Olympic record. Horace Ashenfelter of New York broke the Olympic mark in winning his heat of the 3,000 meter steeplechase. Harrison Dillard of Cleveland matched the Olympic 110 meter hurdles record in a heat and Andy Stanfield of Jersey City equalled the 200 meters Olympic record in winning the final.

Today brings what may prove to be one of the real classic races of the games—the 5,000 meters. The record already has been lowered in one of the heats by Herbert Schade of Germany. Schade faces, among others, Emil Zatopek, the Czech wonder runner, who has run the 5,000 in 14:03, twelve seconds under Shade's time. If he can win, Zatopek will become the first double gold medal winner of these games. He took the 10,000 meters on Sunday.

In rowing yesterday, the United States unbeaten heavyweight crew from the naval academy won the eight-oared final and two Rutgers oarsmen won the pairs without coxswain.

Eight Shawangunk Club Golfers Enter Freeman Hole-in-One Tourney, Aug. 3

Eight members of the Shawangunk Country Club at Napanoch headed by 1951 prize winners, Tim Bilyeu and Joe Blackwell, Jr., have filed entries for the 4th annual Freeman hole-in-one tournament on Sunday, Aug. 3, at Wiltwyck Golf Club. None of the octet has an ace to his credit, but they'll give it a try on Aug. 3. The entries include Tim Bilyeu, Joe Blackwell, Sr. and Warren Nesbitt, regular competitors in the Father Herdegen tournament; Joe Blackwell, Jr., Milton Smith, Sam Fisher, better known for his bowling exploits; George Nesbitt, Tommy Schatzel. Entries for the popular golf feature close on Thursday, July 31. Entry blanks are available at Wiltwyck and Twaalfskill.

Esopus Yankees Rally to Defeat Giants by 9 to 6

Overcoming a 4 to 2 deficit with clusters of three runs in each the third and fourth innings, the Yankees moved into a two-way tie for first place with the Giants in the Esopus Little League Wednesday on the strength of their 9 to 6 victory.

Both clubs have now won four and dropped two decisions.

The Giants opened fast with three in the first and a single tally in the second. After the Yankees took the lead by 5-4 in the third, the Giants came back with a run to tie it up in their half.

The Yankees' three runs in the fourth and a single marker in the fifth proved enough despite the Giants' rally for a run in the fourth.

Joe Beaver pitched a four-hitter to gain the win for the Yankees while Chuck Whittaker and Carl Van Wert divided the mound chores for the losers. Van Wert was charged with the loss.

Beaver fanned 12 to back up his four-hit performance.

Hurt at Plate, Injured Pitcher Stays on Mound

Errors Help Motormen Register Victory

Wiltwyck Motors, who went down the line in the first half only to be nosed out by the stretch drive of Jones Dairy, opened the second half play on a happy note Wednesday with a 5 to 3 victory over Boulevard Gulf.

Ernie McCormick, despite a hard collision at the plate in the third inning when he lost a couple of molars, went the distance for the winners to pick up his third victory of the campaign. George Magley, a victim of poor support, pitched all the way for the losers to pick up his second setback in three starts.

Magley only gave up eight hits and deserved a better fate but five infield boots spelled his doom. Both the Motormen and Boulevards were credited with two earned runs.

Benefit Game Sunday

Wiltwyck Motors and Jones Dairy will collide in the next regular City League game scheduled for Tuesday night. A big benefit game has been scheduled for Sunday night for Sal Misasi of Jones Dairy who recently threw out his pitching arm in a freak accident.

Daisy Schatzel, manager of Jones Dairy and Bill "Pucker" Davis of the Colonial Merchants will manage the rival all-star squads for the Misasi benefit. Game time Sunday is 6:15 p. m.

Hurt at Plate

McCormick suffered the loss of two teeth when he collided with Ruff, the Boulevard catcher at the plate in the third inning. McCormick got on via an error and raced home on Minadeo's long double. McCormick, who was out at the plate, continued on the mound for the winners although visibly shaken up on the play.

Prior to his collision at the plate, McCormick had set the first nine men down in order. The Boulevards touched up the plucky hurler for a pair of runs in the fourth and a single tally in the fifth.

Wiltwycks opened with a run in the second on a single by Murphy, a steal, an infield grounder and J. Passante's bingle. The Motormen made it 2-0 in the third. After McCormick was thrown out at the payoff dish, Minadeo, who had doubled, scored on Passante's fly to center. The Motormen threatened to score more as Finn and Kite singled but Murphy ended the uprising by striking out.

Perhaps shaken up more than expected in trying to score, McCormick gave up a couple of runs in the fourth after Schryver fanned. Lyons walked, Tierney doubled him to third and both scored on Ruff's single.

Held Short Lead

Boulevards went ahead by one run in the fifth. Jerry Bechtold reached on an error, stole second and scored on Al Vogt's single.

Three big errors helped the Motormen to win the game in the bottom half of the fifth. McCormick, Minadeo and Passante all reached on boots. After Finn skied to center, Kite uncorked a double to center to clear the bases and gave the contest to Wiltwycks.

Ten thousand books, or one every 98 hours for 112 years, have been written on Napoleon's life.

Two More Records Are Broken In Olympic Games at Helsinki

Hungary and Russia Establish New Marks

Helsinki, July 24 (AP) — Two more Olympic records were broken today, making it 14 in all in five days of track and field competition.

But for American athletes there was a comparatively quiet interlude after yesterday's five-ring circus of record-wrecking.

All three American "whales" qualified for the final of the hammer throw after Jossef Csermak of Hungary broke the Olympic record on his first toss.

But Henry Laskau of New York, America's best heel-and-toe performer, was disqualified in the trial heat of the 10,000 meter walk in which Bruno Junk of Russia set a new Olympic mark, and S. Price King, Jr., of Berkeley, Calif., failed to qualify for the final, finishing dead last in his heat.

Csermak whirled the 16-pound hammer out 57.20 meter (187 feet 8.02 inches) to shatter the Olympic record of 185 feet 4.06 inches established in 1936 by Karl Hein of Germany. That was the 13th record-breaking track and field performance of the 15th Olympic games, which saw five records smashed and two tied yesterday.

Junk brought the total to 14 when he won his heat in the 10,000 meters walk in 45 minutes, 5.8 seconds. The former mark of 45:13.5 was set by John Mikaelsson of Sweden, who finished second to Junk and surpassed his old record.

In the hammer throw, Sam Felton of New York, one-time Harvard athlete, led the Americans with a heave of 166 feet 9.63 inches. Martin Engel of New York did 164 feet ½ inch and Bob Backus of New York 161 feet 11.73 inches. They were required only to throw 160 feet 9.17 inches to qualify for the final this afternoon.

Laskau, a refugee from Nazi Germany and now a New York business man, was disconsolate after his disqualification for failing to keep one foot in contact with the ground.

No Protest Planned

But Coach Brutus Hamilton said he would not protest.

"This is the best officiated meet I've ever seen," Hamilton said.

A number of other walkers also were disqualified. Laskau, holder of the world record in the mile walk, was expected to be among the leaders in the final.

Meanwhile the International Football Federation, governing body of soccer football, gave an indication of a possible solution to one touchy problem still confronting Olympic authorities when it gave full membership to East Germany.

Olympic officials had postponed a decision after East Germany had refused to join with the west on forming one national team for the 1952 Olympics.

Other events this morning were unimportant from the American viewpoint. They included fencing, women's gymnastics and Greco-Roman wrestling, which affored Russia and European nations a chance to add to their totals in the unofficial point scoring.

Russia in Lead

Going into today's program Russia held the lead in all-events scoring with 266½ points to 202 for the United States and 59 for Hungary. The Russians scored 92½ of their points in men's gymnastics.

America's best prospect of winning a gold medal today appeared to be in the 110-meter hurdles, in which Harrison Dillard of Cleveland equalled the Olympic record yesterday. The idea of collecting medals was firmly implanted in the minds of the Americans by their startling one-two performance in the javelin throw yesterday.

"We don't mean to be rude," said Brutus Hamilton, the head U. S. coach, with a grin. "But the idea of taking every medal we can lay our hands on is sweeping the camp. Everybody wants to get into the act.

"Some of our fellows are just beginning to realize the medals don't go any deeper than third place (fourth, fifth and sixth get diplomas of merit) but now that they've found out, they are out to get them."

But despite the eagerness of the Americans to grab all of the silverware, they have met in the Russians a group of athletes just as proficient but in different sports. As the result the Russians held a 266½ to 202 total point lead over the U. S. today, thanks chiefly to the dominance of their gymnasts.

The United States may score some other unexpected victories in these games which run through Aug. 3, but none of them will be more astonishing to the home folks here in Finland than the 1-2 success in the javelin yesterday.

Javelin throwing is a national sport here. They teach it to kids of five and six. So you can imagine the feeling of the crowd of 70,000 in the modern Olympic Stadium when Cy Young, a 23-year-old, six-foot five giant from Modesto, Calif., flung the spear to an Olympic record distance of 73.78 meters (242 feet .79 inches). And to add insult to injury along came Bill Miller of Phoenix, Ariz., to grab second place.

It was another record day all around in track and field—two world records bettered, five Olympic marks broken and two equalled. Like a fisherman out for big things, anything less than a record was tossed back.

Betters Own Mark

Ferreira Da Silva of Brazil bettered his own world record in the hop, step and jump. Shirley Strickland of Australia beat the world record in a heat of the women's 80 meter hurdles, Yvette Williams of New Zealand won the women's broad jump with an Olympic record. Horace Ashenfelter of New York broke the Olympic mark in winning his heat of the 3,000 meter steeplechase. Harrison Dillard of Cleveland matched the Olympic 110 meter hurdles record in a heat and Andy Stanfield of Jersey City equalled the 200 meters Olympic record in winning the final.

Today brings what may prove to be one of the real classic races of the games—the 5,000 meters. The record already has been lowered in one of the heats by Herbert Schade of Germany. Schade faces, among others, Emil Zatopek, the Czech wonder runner, who has run the 5,000 in 14:03, twelve seconds under Shade's time. If he can win, Zatopek will become the first double gold medal winner of these games. He took the 10,000 meters on Sunday.

In rowing yesterday, the United States unbeaten heavyweight crew from the naval academy won the eight-oared final and two Rutgers oarsmen won the pairs without coxswain.

Eight Shawangunk Club Golfers Enter Freeman Hole-in-One Tourney, Aug. 3

Eight members of the Shawangunk Country Club at Napanoch headed by 1951 prize winners, Tim Bilyeu and Joe Blackwell, Jr., have filed entries for the 4th annual Freeman hole-in-one tournament on Sunday, Aug. 3, at Wiltwyck Golf Club. None of the octet has an ace to his credit, but they'll give it a try on Aug. 3. The entries include Tim Bilyeu, Joe Blackwell, Sr. and Warren Nesbitt, regular competitors in the Father Herdegen tournament; Joe Blackwell, Jr., Milton Smith, Sam Fisher, better known for his bowling exploits; George Nesbitt, Tommy Schatzel. Esopus Yankees Rally to Defeat Giants by 9 to 6

Overcoming a 4 to 2 deficit with clusters of three runs in each the third and fourth innings, the Yankees moved into a two-way tie for first place with the Giants in the Esopus Little League Wednesday on the strength of their 9 to 6 victory.

Both clubs have now won four and dropped two decisions.

The Giants opened fast with three in the first and a single tally in the second. After the Yankees took the lead by 5-4 in the third, the Giants came back with a run to tie it up in their half.

The Yankees' three runs in the fourth and a single marker in the fifth proved enough despite the Giants' rally for a run in the fourth.

Joe Beaver pitched a four-hitter to gain the win for the Yankees while Chuck Whittaker and Carl Van Wert divided the mound chores for the losers. Van Wert was charged with the loss.

Beaver fanned 12 to back up his four-hit performance.

Hurt at Plate, Injured Pitcher Stays on Mound

Errors Help Motormen Register Victory

Wiltwyck Motors, who went down the line in the first half only to be nosed out by the stretch drive of Jones Dairy, opened the second half play on a happy note Wednesday with a 5 to 3 victory over Boulevard Gulf.

Ernie McCormick, despite a hard collision at the plate in the third inning when he lost a couple of molars, went the distance for the winners to pick up his third victory of the campaign. George Magley, a victim of poor support, pitched all the way for the losers to pick up his second setback in three starts.

Magley only gave up eight hits and deserved a better fate but five infield boots spelled his doom. Both the Motormen and Boulevards were credited with two earned runs.

Benefit Game Sunday

Wiltwyck Motors and Jones Dairy will collide in the next regular City League game scheduled for Tuesday night. A big benefit game has been scheduled for Sunday night for Sal Misasi of Jones Dairy who recently threw out his pitching arm in a freak accident.

Daisy Schatzel, manager of Jones Dairy and Bill "Pucker" Davis of the Colonial Merchants will manage the rival all-star squads for the Misasi benefit. Game time Sunday is 6:15 p. m.

Hurt at Plate

McCormick suffered the loss of two teeth when he collided with Ruff, the Boulevard catcher at the plate in the third inning. McCormick got on via an error and raced home on Minadeo's long double. McCormick, who was out at the plate, continued on the mound for the winners although visibly shaken up on the play.

Prior to his collision at the plate, McCormick had set the first nine men down in order. The Boulevards touched up the plucky hurler for a pair of runs in the fourth and a single tally in the fifth.

Wiltwycks opened with a run in the second on a single by Murphy, a steal, an infield grounder and J. Passante's bingle. The Motormen made it 2-0 in the third. After McCormick was thrown out at the payoff dish, Minadeo, who had doubled, scored on Passante's fly to center. The Motormen threatened to score more as Finn and Kite singled but Murphy ended the uprising by striking out.

Perhaps shaken up more than expected in trying to score, McCormick gave up a couple of runs in the fourth after Schryver fanned. Lyons walked, Tierney doubled him to third and both scored on Ruff's single.

Held Short Lead

Boulevards went ahead by one run in the fifth. Jerry Bechtold reached on an error, stole second and scored on Al Vogt's single.

Three big errors helped the Motormen to win the game in the bottom half of the fifth. McCormick, Minadeo and Passante all reached on boots. After Finn skied to center, Kite uncorked a double to center to clear the bases and gave the contest to Wiltwycks.

Ten thousand books, or one every 98 hours for 112 years, have been written on Napoleon's life.

Gene Sarazen, Ray Billows, Jim Nichols And Kowal Play in Hospital Benefit Match

Gene Sarazen, of Germantown, one of golf's all-time greats; Jimmy Nichols, the famous one-armed golfer; and Poughkeepsie's Ray Billows and Big Hank Kowal will take part in an exhibition match and clinic on Saturday, July 26, at 1:30 p. m. at the Hudson River State Hospital course.

The services of these famous golfers are being donated and the entire proceeds from donations are to be used for additional patient recreation.

Dr. O. Arnold Kilpatrick, senior director of the hospital, invites the general public and urges their generous support toward making the event a success.

The Hudson River State Hospital Golf Club is situated on the hospital grounds on Route 9, two miles north of Poughkeepsie. Louis J. Garrison, president of the HRSH Golf Association, and Dr. J. Harold Morris, general arrangements chairmen, will be in charge.

All four players have great records. Sarazen, the semi-retired Squire of Germantown, has several major titles to his credit, including the U.S. Open, PGA and the British Open. He is fresh from sensational performances in the early rounds of the recent British Open.

Nichols in spite of his physical handicap spends his entire time giving golf clinics and exhibitions throughout the country. Ray Billows has seven New York State amateur crowns to his credit and three times reached the finals of the U.S. Amateur.

Henry Kowal, current Hudson River Golf Association champion, was U.S. Intercollegiate medalist, Indiana state champion and was runnerup in the recent Travers tournament on Long Island.

With Wiltwyck Golf Club's future shrouded in doubt and uncertainty, and golf pressure mounting yearly in Kingston, there is a clamor in some quarters for a state-operated course on the west side of the Hudson. Preferably near Kingston on the Thruway line.

Proponents of this theory insist that a layout like the James Baird project at Freedom Plains would solve the dilemma that eventually will engulf area golfdom.

This department finds no consolation in such hopes for the future. A state-owned and operated golf course like Baird makes the game available to the rank and file for reasonable fees, but we don't think it is the answer to Kingston's problems of the future.

There is only one answer . . . one solution . . . a privately-owned 18-hole course that will make golf available to its own membership at all times with a minimum of pressure and congestion. The Dutchess Country Club is an excellent example of this type course.

There are some local golf patriarchs who are inclined to be cynical of the clamor of the new-born element for freedom of movement in golf. These people are safely ensconced in private and semi-private golf clubs, with memberships guaranteed by a strict and carefully-screened quota. But what about the hundreds of new folk who are being introduced to the fact growing game of golf every year?

The long range solution, as we see it, may sound revolutionary to some, but for what it's worth, here it is: Eliminate one of the local golf courses. Make the other a municipally-operated public links and build a new 18-holer. That makes for an enchanting theory. Financing such an undertaking however is far less enchanting and poses realistic problems that send the dreamers scurrying for the financial bunkers. But, who knows, a golf Moses may yet emerge from the rough.

Golf today must contend with the alarming spectre of mounting player pressure and shrinking playing areas in the nation.

When you stop to consider that there are at least 20 per cent more golfers in the United States in 1952 than there were 10 years ago, crowding themselves on five per cent fewer courses, you cannot escape the gravity of the situation.

The growing popularity of golf has bumped into a serious shortage of facilities caused mainly by the conversion of golf courses into home sites. All because the landowners can make more money by scrapping the golf clubs and sub-dividing the land into building lots. That is an ominous trend throughout the country.

The defunct golf club will make a temporary profit on the conversion but the club is not organized for profit and has the problem of getting a new location farther out and pioneering another cycle of rise and fall.

Foresighted cities are attending to expansion of their public golf facilities. Los Angeles, with its long range planning, is the leader in trying to care for the demand for more golf courses.

The growth of golf instruction in high school and colleges and the junior classes at private and public courses has produced far more golfers than the old system of depending on caddies growing up into club membership status.

There is often advanced the argument by the uninformed that golf requires too much ground for the use of comparatively few people. But the fact remains that golf generally is the only public recreation facility that supports itself and frequently supplies funds for the operation of other recreation facilities.

As such its future in Kingston deserves serious consideration and planning.

Cocker Spaniel Wins Lincolndale Show

Brush's Trico Trailblazer, a seven-months-old Cocker spaniel owned by Mildred E. Bush of White Plains was voted the Best Puppy in Match in the second outdoor show of the Mid-Hudson Kennel Club Sunday at Lincolndale.

Despite blistering temperatures about 150 dog lovers showed 73 entries.

Best Adult in Match went to a terrific standard poodle, Carillon You Too, owned by Miss Louise Branch of Quaker Hill, Pawling.

Boxers headed the entries with 19, with 20 breeds in all showing. The club has another show planned for October 5 and those interested in further information can contact L. E. Schmidt, chairman, Box 121, Lincolndale, N. Y.

Signers for 'Declaration'

Omaha, Neb. (AP) — Omaha World-Herald reporter Tom Allan took the second paragraph ("We hold these truths to be self-evident," etc.) from the Declaration of Independence, fixed it up in petition form and asked persons encountered at random to sign it. Of 25 persons approached, only four signed. Sample comments: "Sounds sorta communistic. Some of these communistic writers have a way of writing things, you know." "What are you trying to do, overthrow the government?"

Lincoln Desk Still Used

Centralia, Ill. (AP) — A desk Abraham Lincoln used in studying law in Illinois' capital more than 100 years ago may be seen in a lunber yard office in Golconda on the Ohio River. The useful desk still is in good repair. Its first owner, Wesley Sloan, made his Springfield, Ill., law office and books available to young Lincoln who studied at the desk. Sloan retired with his office furniture to Golconda. The desk was purchased by the late Jim Walker, lumberyard owner, who put the desk to use in his office.

With Wiltwyck Golf Club's future shrouded in doubt and uncertainty, and golf pressure mounting yearly in Kingston, there is a clamor in some quarters for a state-operated course on the west side of the Hudson. Preferably near Kingston on the Thruway line.

Proponents of this theory insist that a layout like the James Baird project at Freedom Plains would solve the dilemma that eventually will engulf area golfdom.

This department finds no consolation in such hopes for the future. A state-owned and operated golf course like Baird makes the game available to the rank and file for reasonable fees, but we don't think it is the answer to Kingston's problems of the future.

There is only one answer . . . one solution . . . a privately-owned 18-hole course that will make golf available to its own membership at all times with a minimum of pressure and congestion. The Dutchess Country Club is an excellent example of this type course.

There are some local golf patriarchs who are inclined to be cynical of the clamor of the new-born element for freedom of movement in golf. These people are safely ensconced in private and semi-private golf clubs, with memberships guaranteed by a strict and carefully-screened quota. But what about the hundreds of new folk who are being introduced to the fact growing game of golf every year?

The long range solution, as we see it, may sound revolutionary to some, but for what it's worth, here it is: Eliminate one of the local golf courses. Make the other a municipally-operated public links and build a new 18-holer. That makes for an enchanting theory. Financing such an undertaking however is far less enchanting and poses realistic problems that send the dreamers scurrying for the financial bunkers. But, who knows, a golf Moses may yet emerge from the rough.

Golf today must contend with the alarming spectre of mounting player pressure and shrinking playing areas in the nation.

When you stop to consider that there are at least 20 per cent more golfers in the United States in 1952 than there were 10 years ago, crowding themselves on five per cent fewer courses, you cannot escape the gravity of the situation.

The growing popularity of golf has bumped into a serious shortage of facilities caused mainly by the conversion of golf courses into home sites. All because the landowners can make more money by scrapping the golf clubs and sub-dividing the land into building lots. That is an ominous trend throughout the country.

The defunct golf club will make a temporary profit on the conversion but the club is not organized for profit and has the problem of getting a new location farther out and pioneering another cycle of rise and fall.

Foresighted cities are attending to expansion of their public golf facilities. Los Angeles, with its long range planning, is the leader in trying to care for the demand for more golf courses.

The growth of golf instruction in high school and colleges and the junior classes at private and public courses has produced far more golfers than the old system of depending on caddies growing up into club membership status.

There is often advanced the argument by the uninformed that golf requires too much ground for the use of comparatively few people. But the fact remains that golf generally is the only public recreation facility that supports itself and frequently supplies funds for the operation of other recreation facilities.

As such its future in Kingston deserves serious consideration and planning.

Cocker Spaniel Wins Lincolndale Show

Brush's Trico Trailblazer, a seven-months-old Cocker spaniel owned by Mildred E. Bush of White Plains was voted the Best Puppy in Match in the second outdoor show of the Mid-Hudson Kennel Club Sunday at Lincolndale.

Despite blistering temperatures about 150 dog lovers showed 73 entries.

Best Adult in Match went to a terrific standard poodle, Carillon You Too, owned by Miss Louise Branch of Quaker Hill, Pawling.

Boxers headed the entries with 19, with 20 breeds in all showing. The club has another show planned for October 5 and those interested in further information can contact L. E. Schmidt, chairman, Box 121, Lincolndale, N. Y.

Signers for 'Declaration'

Omaha, Neb. (AP) — Omaha World-Herald reporter Tom Allan took the second paragraph ("We hold these truths to be self-evident," etc.) from the Declaration of Independence, fixed it up in petition form and asked persons encountered at random to sign it. Of 25 persons approached, only four signed. Sample comments: "Sounds sorta communistic. Some of these communistic writers have a way of writing things, you know." "What are you trying to do, overthrow the government?"

Lincoln Desk Still Used

Centralia, Ill. (AP) — A desk Abraham Lincoln used in studying law in Illinois' capital more than 100 years ago may be seen in a lunber yard office in Golconda on the Ohio River. The useful desk still is in good repair. Its first owner, Wesley Sloan, made his Springfield, Ill., law office and books available to young Lincoln who studied at the desk. Sloan retired with his office furniture to Golconda. The desk was purchased by the late Jim Walker, lumberyard owner, who put the desk to use in his office.

Director Davis Outlines Program for Home Defense

Various phases of civilian defense were demonstrated outside Reade's Theatre this week, where it was plainly shown that there's a job for everybody helping to keep the nation safe.

In the pictorial review caught by The Freeman camera, patriotic citizens go through their routines in the CD set-up, but there are other projects in the program where volunteers are needed.

During the CD show recruits were listed, and a representative number responded to the important call of joining in defending the home front.

Anyone interested in serving may report at the Civilian Defense office in the city hall between 7:30 and 9:30 p. m. on Monday's Wednesdays or Thursdays.

Attorney Sherwood Davis, city director of CD, said he was extremely pleased with progress effected by leaders in the various phases of defense, but expressed anxiety that more citizens "volunteer to protect the community in case of a bombing."

Anything is liable to happen, Davis said, and stressed that "it is best to be trained and prepared."

Various CD Branches

Public safety, dealing with auxiliary police and fire duties. Chris Perry is auxiliary chief under Police Chief Ray Van Buren of the Kingston Police Department.

Transportation, directed by John Pope and Maynard Mizel, for evacuation purposes.

Public works and engineering, headed by Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding of the Department of Public Works to clear debris and aid in rescue work.

Medical aid and public health, Dr. John A. Cooke, director, to take care of casualties. There is need for more nurses, persons with knowledge of first aid, stretcher bearers and nurses aides.

Demonstration Effective

Public information, Robert Kreines, director, to convey instructions to residents of the community through the press, radio and other mediums of publication.

Air raid warden service, Attorney Thomas Saccoman, director, to take over protective measures in the event of a bombing.

Plan Mountain Climb

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — Three mountain-climbing scientists from California Institute of Technology plan a dual-purpose assault this month on the Brooks Range in Alaska. Making the trip are Professors Gunnar Bergman, Alfred Tissieres and G. W. Beadle. They plan a climb up 10,000-foot Mt. Doonerak, about 100 miles north of the Arctic circle. They'll take observations of spruce plantings above timberline made in 1939 by Robert Marshall, a pioneer mountain-climber. The three will also make corrections in current air force and Geological Survey topographical maps which have been incorrect in important details of the area.

Six Red Rail . . .

said 87 buildings were leveled, amid considerable other damage.

Communist and allied troops patrolled and probed all across the 155-mile ground front Wednesday and this morning. The forces clashed only briefly and the Reds fired their lowest number of artillery and mortar shells in more than a month.

Allied B-26 and marine fighter-bombers concentrated during darkness on the Reds' Haeju peninsula buildup area behind the western front. The night fliers reported 21 big fires and several secondary explosions in the vicinity of Sinchon, on the west coast rail line south from Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

Sweers said allied gunners damaged two Red tanks Wednesday a few miles from Old Baldy and B-26s flew eight night radar-bombing missions over the sector. Ten allied patrols looked over the area aroung Old Baldy but reported no contact.

Shortage of Social Workers

Montreal (AP)—Current shortage of trained social workers may become even more acute in the near future because enrollments in Canadian schools of social work are dropping. Dr. J. J. O'Moore of the McGill School of Social Work said fewer than half of the first-year students at the McGill class would finish their two-year course because of lack of financial support for such students.

Irish Tourist Bureaus

Dublin (AP)—The Irish Tourist Board is to set up travel bureaus in all the major centers of the United States to attract tourists, the board announced here. The bureaus will be opened in time to appeal to Americans to visit the Festival of Ireland, to be held in April, 1953.

The word "jewel" has its origin in the French word, "joie," meaning joy or gladness.

During the CD show recruits were listed, and a representative number responded to the important call of joining in defending the home front.

Anyone interested in serving may report at the Civilian Defense office in the city hall between 7:30 and 9:30 p. m. on Monday's Wednesdays or Thursdays.

Attorney Sherwood Davis, city director of CD, said he was extremely pleased with progress effected by leaders in the various phases of defense, but expressed anxiety that more citizens "volunteer to protect the community in case of a bombing."

Anything is liable to happen, Davis said, and stressed that "it is best to be trained and prepared."

Various CD Branches

Davis enumerated the various projects comprising Civilian Defense, which are:

Public safety, dealing with auxiliary police and fire duties. Chris Perry is auxiliary chief under Police Chief Ray Van Buren of the Kingston Police Department.

Transportation, directed by John Pope and Maynard Mizel, for evacuation purposes.

Public works and engineering, headed by Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding of the Department of Public Works to clear debris and aid in rescue work.

Medical aid and public health, Dr. John A. Cooke, director, to take care of casualties. There is need for more nurses, persons with knowledge of first aid, stretcher bearers and nurses aides.

Communications, Henry W. Bartsch, chief, to send and receive messages in case of raids. Schools are planned for amateur operators.

Demonstration Effective

Public information, Robert Kreines, director, to convey instructions to residents of the community through the press, radio and other mediums of publication.

Air raid warden service, Attorney Thomas Saccoman, director, to take over protective measures in the event of a bombing.

Plan Mountain Climb

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — Three mountain-climbing scientists from California Institute of Technology plan a dual-purpose assault this month on the Brooks Range in Alaska. Making the trip are Professors Gunnar Bergman, Alfred Tissieres and G. W. Beadle. They plan a climb up 10,000-foot Mt. Doonerak, about 100 miles north of the Arctic circle. They'll take observations of spruce plantings above timberline made in 1939 by Robert Marshall, a pioneer mountain-climber. The three will also make corrections in current air force and Geological Survey topographical maps which have been incorrect in important details of the area.

Six Red Rail . . .

said 87 buildings were leveled, amid considerable other damage.

Communist and allied troops patrolled and probed all across the 155-mile ground front Wednesday and this morning. The forces clashed only briefly and the Reds fired their lowest number of artillery and mortar shells in more than a month.

Allied B-26 and marine fighter-bombers concentrated during darkness on the Reds' Haeju peninsula buildup area behind the western front. The night fliers reported 21 big fires and several secondary explosions in the vicinity of Sinchon, on the west coast rail line south from Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

Sweers said allied gunners damaged two Red tanks Wednesday a few miles from Old Baldy and B-26s flew eight night radar-bombing missions over the sector. Ten allied patrols looked over the area aroung Old Baldy but reported no contact.

Shortage of Social Workers

Montreal (AP)—Current shortage of trained social workers may become even more acute in the near future because enrollments in Canadian schools of social work are dropping. Dr. J. J. O'Moore of the McGill School of Social Work said fewer than half of the first-year students at the McGill class would finish their two-year course because of lack of financial support for such students.

Irish Tourist Bureaus

Dublin (AP)—The Irish Tourist Board is to set up travel bureaus in all the major centers of the United States to attract tourists, the board announced here. The bureaus will be opened in time to appeal to Americans to visit the Festival of Ireland, to be held in April, 1953.

The word "jewel" has its origin in the French word, "joie," meaning joy or gladness.
